Coolidge Delays Naming of Tilson To New Judgeship

Opposition of Georgia Senators to Atlanta Lawyer Believed Reason for Delay.

NAMING IS STILL BELIEVED CERTAIN

Republican Senators Stirred by Threats of Georgians To Delay Legislation.

Washington, June 3.—(Special)—President Coolidge is holding up the nomination of W. J. Tilson, republican lawyer of Atlanta, as judge of the new middle judicial district in the state because of the opposition the two Georgia senators have aroused against the appointment among some republican senators.

The commission for the appointment was sent to the white house three days ago by Attorney General Sargent and it was expected that it would go up Wednesday, but Senators Harris and George have placed their case before leading republican senators with the result that Coolidge has withheld the nomination.

It was predicted Thursday that the chances of the nomination have been reduced somewhat, but that it still is more than likely that President Coolidge will ignore the opposition and appoint Tilson, who is a brother of Republican Floor Leader John Q. Tilson, of the house.

The Georgia senators have pointed out in their conferences with republican leaders that they can marshal considerable opposition to the appointment and thus precipitate a fight in the closing days of the session which might endanger the republican legislative program.

Republicans Alarmed.

"The fight we are making against the appointment has alarmed some of the republican senators, who realize that there is formidable opposition among the democrats and that the opposition of some republicans might be sufficient to defeat confirmation," Harris said Thursday.

"Several republicans have advised the president not to send in the nomination."

"We are not going to stop at anything to defeat the nomination," Harris said.

"It is an injustice to go out of the district to make a purely political appointment. We hope that the president's sense of justice will not permit him to make this appointment, which would arouse dissatisfaction among the people with creation of the new district.

"It smacks of the carpet bag days."

Harris explained that there was nothing personal against Tilson in the opposition to his appointment.

Harris said that all the Georgia senators are asking is that a man from the new district be appointed. He said there were numbers of able republican lawyers residing within the new district who could be selected for the judgeship.

No Indorsement.

He said he was not indorsing any one, and was not trying to interfere with a selection by the administration, which is its right, except to insist that a capable man be appointed from the new district, and not from outside.

Even in the democratic administration, Harris said, he had not been influenced by political consideration in urging appointments to the federal bench—Sam Sibley as judge of the northern district, Alec King as judge of the circuit court of appeals, the late Beverly Evans, judge of the southern district, and William H. Barrett, present judge of the southern district.

Both of the Georgia senators have agreed to the nomination of Bascom S. Deaver, Macon attorney, as district attorney for the new district. Deaver is now assistant district attorney of the southern district.

The name of Walter Akerman, of Cartersville, formerly United States marshal for the northern district, was sent to the white house by Sargent for the post of United States marshal in the new middle district.

CITY'S 'FINEST' PRAISED BY DOBBS

"Atlanta's police department is the finest, best disciplined, cleanest, most efficient and thorough and the most energetic in ferreting out crime of any similar force in the whole country."

This statement was made Thursday by Alderman Guy Dobbs, of the eighth ward, leader in organizing the police hand, in answer to charges of Mrs. J. E. Andrews, president of the Atlanta Woman's council, that the department is dominated and controlled by denizens of the underworld and operators of bootlegging establishments and dives.

While Mr. Dobbs declined to be dragged into a controversy he assailed

HOUSE EMBROILED IN BITTER DEBATE OVER HARBORS BILL

House Has Night Session, Refusing To Recess for Dinner in Effort To Reach Vote.

MICHIGAN SOLON CENTER OF FIGHT

After Hours of Wrangling House Rejects Plan To Remove Illinois River From Bill.

Washington, June 3.—(AP)—Embroiled in a bitter fight over the $36,000,000 rivers and harbors bill, the house was in session tonight, refusing to recess even for dinner.

Some proponents of the measure expressed a determination to keep the house in continuous session until a final vote was reached.

Late in the afternoon, after a four-hour battle of words in which Representative Sosnowski, republican, Michigan, was the center, the house got down to consideration of the bill. Another fight immediately developed as to whether it should be read for amendment with debate limited for each member to five minutes on each of the nine sections or on each of the 165 paragraphs.

Move Is Defeated.

By a vote of 133 to 83, the house tonight defeated a move to eliminate the Illinois river project from the bill.

This action came after nearly three hours of debate, during which opponents contended the rivers and harbors committee had exceeded its authority in incorporating the project in the measure.

Representative Lehlbach, republican, New Jersey, presiding, sustained the contention of the opponents of the project, but the house, overrode his decision.

The same vote defeated also a move to eliminate on parliamentary maneuvering two other projects, one to extend the intra-coastal canal development along the Gulf of Mexico to Corpus Christi, Tex., and one to connect Gravesend Bay with Jamaica Bay, N. Y.

Burton Joins Fight.

Representative Burton, republican, Ohio, later joined with Representatives Tapes, Crampton, and Sosnowski, three Michigan republicans, in another attack on the Illinois river project which involved diversion of water from Lake Michigan into the river.

Mr. Burton offered an amendment in another attempt to eliminate the Illinois project, the most controverted item, which is responsible for the filibuster by Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin delegations against the bill as a whole.

Representatives Voigt, Wisconsin, and Chalmers, Ohio, republicans, indorsed the Burton amendment, while Chairman Dempsey, of the rivers and harbors committee, Representatives Madden and Hull, republicans, and Rainey, democrat, all of Illinois, opposed it.

Youth Refuses To Take Oath In U. S. Navy

Midshipman Lirkle Assigned To Battleship Station Despite Refusal.

Annapolis, Md., June 3.—(AP)—Midshipman E. B. Zirkle, of Garden City, Kas., today refused to take the oath of induction into the United States navy upon graduation with his class from the naval academy here. Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, who had delivered an address to the graduating midshipmen and to whom the case was referred, ordered the young man assigned to a station aboard the battleship New York, which leaves on a coastal cruise tomorrow.

The case was the first of its kind ever reported at the academy, Admiral Louis M. Nulton, commandant of the midshipmen, said tonight.

A ruling of the naval department, now in force, requires that a midshipman serve two years in the service after graduation before his resignation may be considered. The young man has been attempting to resign for several months, Admiral Nulton said, although his ranking in conduct and as a student has been high.

Admiral Nulton added that the young man was assigned to a ship with the rest of his mates to give him a chance to see at close range the navy life for which the youth believed he was unfitted.

STEPHENS BUST TO BE CARVED BY BORGLUM

Statue of Great Georgian Given by Mrs. J. M. High, Will Be Placed in Nation's Hall of Fame.

MEMBERS OF U. D. C. WILL BE IN CHARGE

Gutzon Borglum, distinguished American sculptor, has accepted the commission to carve the statue of Alexander Stephens, which will be placed in the Georgia niche of the National Hall of Fame, in the capitol a Washington, alongside that of Dr. Crawford W. Long, discoverer of anaesthesia, which was recently unveiled.

The statue of Stephens, vice president of the Confederacy, many times congressman and at the time of his death governor, famous statesman and historian, and one of the most distinguished of Georgia's sons of all time, will be the gift to Georgia and the nation of Mrs. J. M. High, who generously offered to defray the cost of the statue through the Atlanta chapter of the United Daughters of th Confederacy.

Dr. Garnett W. Quillian, chairman of the governor's committee in charge of Georgia's representation in Statuary hall, has received advices from Mr. Borglum accepting the commission to carve this statue, it became known Thursday, and work will start at an early date.

Telegram From Dr. Quillian.

The fact that Mr. Borglum had been selected as the sculptor for this important commission became known through a telegram sent by Dr. Quillian to A. L. Mahoney, secretary of the committee in charge of the ceremonies incident to the unveiling of the gigantic memorial group, "Wars of America," carved by Mr. Borglum and unveiled Monday at Newark, N. J.

In his telegram, after expressing regret at his inability to attend the ceremonies in Newark last Monday, Dr. Quillian says:

"This disappointment is the more pungent because of my admiration for Gutzon Borglum, the distinguished sculptor whose genius is embodied in the magnificent group of statuary, and, too, because the granite base upon which it rests for all time is made of granite from our own beloved Stone mountain, upon which there is now being carved an enduring monument to the bravery and chivalry of Robert E. Lee, Stonewall Jackson and all soldiers of the Confederacy, which conception would have been impossible but for the vision of Mr. Borglum. You will be interested to know that when it became our responsibility, in cooperation with the Daughters of the Confederacy, to select a sculptor to chisel in everlasting marble an enduring statue to Alexander Stephens, vice president of the Confederacy and a distinguished Georgian, to adorn Statuary hall, in the national capitol at Washington, none was considered other than Gutzon Borglum, into whose hands has been placed the trust for creating this sacred memorial to Georgia and the great south."

"The statue of Alexander H. Stephens will be life-size, in the rolling chair in which he spent most of the later years of his life," said Dr. Quillian. The offer to give this statue was made several weeks ago by Mrs. High through the Atlanta chapter of the U. D. C. and the governor's committee, of which Dr. Quillian is chairman, accepted the offer at that time. Following the acceptance of the offer, Dr. Quillian said:

Committee Is Pleased.

"The committee naturally is highly pleased, as it means that the statues of two great Georgians soon will take their proper place in the nation's hall of fame."

Dr. Quillian was author of a resolution adopted at the 1921 convention of the Georgia Medical society pledging that organization to active work to secure the Dr. Long statue. He was named chairman of the governor's committee on the memorials by Governor Hugh M. Dorsey; later his appointment was confirmed by Governor Thomas W. Hardwick, and he was reappointed by Governor Clifford Walker.

The Borglum statue of Stephens will be placed alongside that of Dr. Long, the recent unveiling of which consummated the tireless work of a group of Georgians headed by Dr. Joseph Jacobs, of Atlanta.

The offer from Mrs. High was transmitted to Dr. Quillian's committee through a committee of the Atlanta chapter, U. D. C., headed by Mrs. John A. Perdue, then president of the chapter, as chairman; Mrs. Stafford Seidell, Mrs. High, Mrs. Charles T. Phillips and Mrs. Frank Mason. Mrs. Seidell has since been elected president of the chapter.

The statue will cost, it is estimated, about $20,000 and the gift was made by Mrs. High conditional on the sponsoring of the work by the U. D. C. and that credit for the work be given that organization.

Twenty-five years ago the Georgia legislature selected two famous men whose memory would be commemorated by statues placed in the two niches set apart in the Hall of Fame in the national capitol. It decided upon Dr. Long and Alexander H. Stephens. A committee was appointed to raise funds to erect these statues at that time.

The present committee, appointed by Governor Hugh M. Dorsey and reappointed by Governor Clifford Walker, consists of Dr. Quillian, chairman; Horace M. Holden, of Athens; Mrs. Frank Harrold, of Americus; A. L. Henson, of Calhoun, and Mrs. J. M. High, of Atlanta.

INTOLERANCE HIT BY JUDGE HINES BEFORE BAR MEET

CHANGE IN OFFICER SELECTION SOUGHT

Let Public Sentiment Punish, Lee W. Branch Advises in Speech Before State Bar Association.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Savannah, Ga., June 3.—Featured by a spirited attack upon "the people of Georgia who are seeking to drive negroes, Jews and Catholics from the state," delivered at Tybee Beach this afternoon by James K. Hines, associate justice of the supreme court of Georgia, the 33d annual meeting of the Georgia Bar Association is now well under way with many interesting features on the program for tomorrow and Saturday. Saturday will see the close of the session.

Without mentioning the name of any certain organization, Judge Hines asserted:

"The spirit is growing in Georgia to take the law into our own hands; the spirit is growing to force the enforcement of morals and endeavor to punish people for alleged crimes without any opportunity being given them to be heard in their own defense, and the pity is that among this class endeavoring to make right by might are lawyers and ministers of the gospel in Georgia. It is better to have crime and be without morals than to be subject to the whims of people who accuse a defendant behind his back without permitting him a fair trial."

Continuing his remarks along this line, Judge Hines asserted that George Washington, "Father of His Country," would not have been safe from depradations at the hands of these men, "since it is an established fact that George Washington raced horses, fought gamecocks and was very fond of the ladies. He would have stood no show," asserted Judge Hines.

"It is true that on the face of it, the principles for which these men say they stand appear to be fine," said the speaker. "Purity of the home and protection therefor is said to be one of their cardinal principles and yet some men of this organization and some of their officials in almost every state of the union have been indicted for destroying the very thing which they maintain they are to protect—the purity of the home. It is done for money and that's all.

Crime Capitalized.

"It is the duty of every lawyer and one of the highest services he can render his state to see to it that the law is observed and enforced," said the speaker. "Crime has been capitalized by a handful of unscrupulous men in Georgia who filled their pockets with golden shekels. There are some good men in this organization and that I will admit, but how they ever became such passes my understanding.

Religious freedom is guaranteed under the constitution and yet I know

'It Aint Gonna Rain No More'

:: CHIEF COLLECTS BRIDAL DONATIONS ::

Played as Indians Marry

Miami, Fla., June 3.—(AP)—To the tin-panny mechanical rendition of "It Ain't Gonna Rain No More," and similarly jazzy tunes, Tony Tommy, high chieftain of the Seminoles, was married to a diminutive 19-year-old girl of his domain, Edna John, at the historic Indian camp at Musa Isle near Miami this afternoon.

The event was a gala public spectacle, staged in the open under a blazing tropical sun, with the brave and his squaw surrounded by a chattering, laughing crowd of several thousand spectators. Picturesque Redskins from the four corners of the Seminole nation rubbed elbows with a surging throng of palefaces, which literally took possession of the palm-thatched enclosure.

The booming of the tocsin and tom-tom had resounded for a week or more through the fastnesses of the Everglades to bring together the scattered tribes for the festivities, and blazing posters in downtown Miami had served as invitations to the celebration.

The affair assumed a spectacular aspect in the departure from the ancient custom of the tribes in many respects. Chief Tommy, a graduate of the Carlisle government school, donned the flashy garb of his forefathers for his wedding attire, but he would have none of the tinkling of bells nor the incantations of his people. He injected many unique features to enliven the nuptials, not the least of which was the wedding march a la phonograph.

Introduced to the crowd, the two principals stood hand in hand while John Osceola, grandson of the celebrated warrior, admonished them to "be good, love each other and live together." The actual wedding consumed less than a minute, after which Chief Tommy placed a large circle of beads around the neck of his bride in the Seminole custom.

The enterprising chieftain laughingly commercialized his matrimonial venture by collecting from the cheering throng bridal donations after having imposed an entrance charge on the "cash customers."

The couple disappeared as the Indians of the village performed the tribal corn dance, a religious celebration in honor of their principal means of sustenance.

The crowd was thrilled with a wrestling match between a Seminole trapper and a large alligator, after which two young bucks of the village contended in a unique canoe race on the nearby stream. The losing contestant dug his pole too deeply in the mud and toppled into the water, only to be rescued a few moments later by a young woman.

Probe of Increased Prices of Gasoline Ordered by Senate

Federal Trade Commission Will Investigate High Cost of Petroleum Products.

DEFENSE OF OIL MADE BY HARRELD

Trammell Resolution Effective Without House Concurrence or Presidential Approval.

Washington, June 3.—(AP)—A resolution directing the federal trade commission to investigate the increased price of gasoline and other petroleum products was adopted today by the senate without a record vote.

The resolution, introduced by Senator Trammell, democrat, Florida, requires the commission to report to the senate at the next session of congress whether the increases were "arbitrarily made and unwarranted."

The commission is further directed to determine if there are any agreements between oil companies to raise or depress prices or if competition is restricted by conditions or ownership of oil properties, refineries or marketing facilities.

Trammell Asks Probe.

Senator Trammell held the resolution before the senate for weeks and each time there was a lull in the proceedings he asked for action, but it was shoved aside repeatedly or some other measure. He accused the senate of wasting time over trivial affairs while the public was paying heavy toll to the "oil trusts."

Rising to the defense of the oil industry, Senator Harreld, republican, Oklahoma, declared an investigation was not warranted as the rise and fall in oil prices was justified. He accused senators of being "afraid to vote their convictions" when it came to the oil industry, which he said, is now being operated along ethical lines.

Heflin Accuses Harreld.

The Oklahoma senator was speaking at 2 o'clock, when the farm relief bill automatically came before the senate, and he then left the house immediately after Senators Heflin, democrat, Alabama, and Trammell, charged that Harreld had attempted to block action and that the senate should not be held up by one man.

During the argument that ensued Senator Harreld reappeared and announced he had no objection to a vote. The resolution then was adopted by a loud chorus of yeas, a few scattered nays following.

The resolution is effective without house concurrence or presidential approval. A majority of the commission several months ago declared an unwillingness to act on resolutions for investigations adopted by only one branch of congress, unless violations of the anti-trust act were involved.

BACK SEAT DRIVERS CAUSE FOR DIVORCE, HIGH COURT RULES

San Francisco, June 3.—(AP)—"Back seat" automobile driving is a just cause for divorce. The state supreme court said so yesterday.

Claude H. Harman, San Francisco, locomotive engineer, sued in the lower courts for a divorce on the grounds that his wife, Jessie, belittled his ability as a driver by constantly telling him from the back seat just how he should negotiate the dangerous curves ahead.

The trial court refused the decree and Harman appealed to the state supreme court.

SEVEN INJURED AS POLICE WAR UPON SPEEDING

Three Children, Three Men and One Woman Are Day's Victims of Traffic.

BICYCLE COLLIDES WITH MOTOR TRUCK

Three Are Caught in Collision of Coupe and Sedan at Spring and Fifth Streets.

In face of the crusade inaugurated by Police Chief Beavers against speeders and violators of traffic laws, seven persons today are suffering from injuries received in motor accidents Thursday. Names of drivers of motor cars that struck two of the victims have not been learned by police.

Suffering from a broken left leg and a fractured collar bone, Miss Nell Tidwell, of 1235 South Princess street, was taken to Grady Thursday night after being struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. Marian Lanford, of 370 South Boulevard.

The accident happened on Lee street at Avon avenue just after Miss Tidwell had alighted from an outbound East Point street car. Mrs. Lanford stopped her machine and accompanied the victim to the hospital. Riding in the auto with her was Mrs. J. F. Cox, of 550 Peeples street. Police made no arrest.

Davis Jackson, 10, son of Mrs. T. C. Jackson, 467 Grant street, is in the hospital as a result of being hurt when the bicycle he was riding collided with a motor truck operated by an unidentified driver at Grant and Ormond streets. The boy's left arm was broken and he suffered bruises about the body.

Dorothy Lambert, age 7, of 1228 Grant street, may have suffered brain injuries when she was knocked down by a truck on McDonough road. No report of the accident has been filed at police headquarters.

Woman Among Injured.

Three persons, two men and one woman, were badly shaken up and bruised in a collision Thursday night at Spring and Fifth streets, between a light coupe and a heavy sedan.

The only injured person that could be found by Call Officers Herman Clay and J. H. Crankshaw after the wreck was R. M. Braswell, employee of a local furniture store, whose coupe was badly damaged by the impact.

According to information given to officers, the sedan, driven by a man with a woman at his side, going west on Fifth street, collided with the coupe driven by Braswell, going north on Spring.

When officers arrived, the injured man and woman had been taken away in a private automobile, apparently in a serious condition. At a late hour Thursday night, neither the man nor the woman could be found in local hospitals where the officers checked.

The sedan, which was abandoned immediately after the accident, was sent to a local garage by officers with instructions to hold it until further developments in the accident.

Negro Pedestrian Hit.

Jim Wilkins, negro, of 27 Davis street, was severely bruised when knocked down at Mitchell and Davis streets by a truck driven by Buster Craig, another negro, of 261 West Mitchell street. Wilkins was taken to

Russell Thaw Leaves Hotel Bills Unpaid

Gives Lavish Parties in Chicago; Bill Is Sent to Harry.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Chicago, Ill., June 3.—Russell Thaw, 19-year-old son of Harry Thaw and Evelyn Nesbit, disappeared from the Congress hotel rather mysteriously last Monday and search is being made for him.

Young Thaw arrived at the hotel May 20. He gave several parties in his room and in the dining rooms. On May 29 he entertained six friends in the ballroom in a lavish manner. He hired a taxi limousine and charged this and the dinner to his account.

Monday, it is said, he told the hotel management that he was to meet his mother, coming on the Twentieth Century train, and made a reservation for her. Later he came back, somewhat crestfallen, with the announcement that "Mother did not arrive."

Since that time he has not been seen around the hotel. Search of his room revealed only an empty suitcase. A bill for his two weeks' expenses, dinners, taxicabs, limousine, and chauffeur, and other expenses, has been sent to Harry Thaw.

Woman Evangelist Search Is Renewed By Call for 'Help'

Mystery in Disappearance of Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson Deepens As Hunt Widens.

POLICE AGAIN SEEK RADIO OPERATOR

Evangelist's Mother and Corps of Searchers Comb Coast for Some Trace of Body.

Los Angeles, June 3.—(AP)—The tangled skein of inquiry into the death or disappearance of Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, who dropped from sight at the Santa Monica-Venice beach May 18, today led investigators to three widely-separated points on the California coast, exclusive of Los Angeles, where the hunt started.

At Long Beach a blind attorney, R. A. McKinley, walked the streets awaiting a tap on the shoulder which would tell him that supposed kidnapers of the woman preacher and self-proclaimed healer had come back for a second interview.

McKinley reported Tuesday to the district attorney that two men had accosted him on the street, told him they could produce Mrs. McPherson and demanded $25,000 for doing so, of which they promised McKinley $5,000 for opening the negotiations.

Four Test Questions.

Mrs. McPherson's mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, gave McKinley four test questions to transmit to the mysterious pair to be answered by their prisoner, if Mrs. McPherson really was held by them, but so far they have failed to come back.

At San Francisco, Captain Herman Cline, chief of detectives of the Los Angeles police force, hunted in vain for Kenneth G. Ormiston, former radio operator at Mrs. McPherson's headquarters, Angelus Temple here, and close friend of the missing woman. Cline's assistants questioned Ormiston a few days ago then let him go. Since that time he has been reported flitting up and down the coast in a blue coupe, sometimes with a woman companion, sometimes alone.

Ormston's wife, Ruth, before she returned to Australia several months ago with her father, F. A. Peters of Sydney, threatened to sue him for divorce and name Mrs. McPherson as co-respondent.

Mother Combs Coast.

Mrs. Kennedy, accompanied by the missing evangelist's 11-year-old son, Rolf, and a corps of searchers, also hunted the coast at the foot of the Palos Verdes hills, south of here, in a fruitless search for Mrs. McPherson's body today. The trail ended at the Santa Monica-Venice beach, where Rolf gazed for the first time on the stretch of water in which his mother's secretary, Miss Emma Schaeffer, says the evangelist was drowned May 18.

The boy, wearing his first long trousers which were his mother's last gift to him, cried as his eyes swept the Santa Monica surf.

Sheriff's officers combed Bouquet canyon, northeast of here, this morning, in search of a clue which would solve the meaning of a scribbled note found on a street corner yesterday indicating that the writer was held prisoner in that vicinity. There was nothing in the note directly to connect it with Mrs. McPherson.

ATLANTANS LEAD SINGLES MATCHES WITH VICTORIES

Stars and Stripes Team Wins by Small Margin of 6 to 5 With One Match Halved.

BOB JONES BEATS CYRIL TOLLEY 12-11

Gunn and Sweetser Also Victorious, While Four of Team Lose; Open Tournament Next.

BY H. C. HAMILTON.
Sporting Editor The Constitution.

St. Andrews, Scotland, June 3.—For the fourth time the American eagles of the links have bearded the British lion for possession of the world's most coveted amateur golf trophy and have flown to victory.

Coming through the singles matches with three triumphs and one halved match after taking three out of four in foursome play on Wednesday, the Americans eked out a fine-drawn victory on the historic St. Andrews course Thursday, 6 1-2 to 5 1-2.

The British put up a gallant fight in the singles matches Thursday and but for the smashing victories of Jones and Gunn over two of the Britishers' aces combined with the easy triumph of Sweetser over Holderness while Von Elm was halving his match with Hazlet, the Stars and Stripes players would have met their first defeat of the cup's history.

Now the invading golfers from the United States are turning their attention toward the British open, the last big prize to be won.

As he chucked his putter back into his bag and shook hands with Cyril Tolley, whom he had just defeated 12 up and 11 to play, Bobby Jones remarked:

"That settles it. I'm going to stay for the open, now."

A number of the other amateurs who helped retain the Walker cup today by the narrow margin of one point, wil lremain for teh open cham-

MULLARKY READY FOR GREAT TEST

Many Georgians Will Be In Audience To Hear Constitution's Orator in Big Contest.

Washington, June 3.—(Special)—Joseph A. Mullarky, of Augusta, is ready for the supreme test of his oratorical powers at the national contest here Friday night, with all Georgians in the capital joining those back home in his support.

Many Georgians will be in the huge audience at the city auditorium expected for the contest, confident that they will have the privilege of backing a winner. A full house is expected.

The rest of the contestants arrived in the capital Thursday, Miss Guita F. Bearman, of Minneapolis; Thomas P. Cleary, of Philadelphia; Miss Ann Hardin, of Louisville, Ky., and Miss Helen Bylund, of New York city.

The contestants will have a full day Friday, when the round of entertainments planned for them will begin. At noon they will be presented to President and Mrs. Coolidge at the white house. From the white house they will go to Eastern High school, where they will be tendered a luncheon by Charles Hart, principal.

Following the Eastern luncheon, the group will be taken to the capitol, where they will be received in turn by Vice President Dawes, president of the senate, and Speaker Longworth, of the house of representatives.

High lights of Saturday's entertainment will be a trip down the river on the United States ship Sylph, the official yacht of the secretary of the navy, Wilbur, and a dinner Saturday night at the home of John Hays Hammond, who will preside at tomorrow night's finals.

At the dinner here to Mullarky Wednesday night, at which he was the guest of 60 Georgians who live in the capital, the Georgia orator was praised by Senators George and Harris.

Representative Carl Vinson, who represents the district from which Mullarky comes, expressed confidence that the Georgia boy would win the contest.

Atlanta Beauty's Marriage

:: REBA LAWRENCE FREED BY LOCAL COURT ::

To Bigamist Is Annulled

The marriage of Reba Lawrence, beauty contest winner, to Marcus W. Colberg, alias Marc McDermott, of Minneapolis, Minn., was annulled Thursday by Judge G. H. Howard in Fulton superior court. Suit for annulment was filed on October 2, 1925. The beauty and McDermott were married on January 26, 1925, in the First Baptist church at Chattanooga, Tenn.

The plaintiff alleged that Colberg, alias McDermott, was married at the time she married him, his wife residing in Minneapolis, Minn. The couple lived as man and wife until the following February, when Miss Lawrence received a telegram from her husband's brother-in-law stating that the defendant was married and had deserted his wife and a child in Minneapolis.

Investigation was launched and reports in the telegram were confirmed. Since that date Miss Lawrence has been a resident of Atlanta.

Asked by Miss Lawrence for an explanation as to why he married by the name of McDermott yet was generally known as Colberg in Minneapolis, the defendant is alleged to have said that he had been adopted when a youth by his step-father, a Mr. Colberg, but he preferred his father's name, McDermott.

In addition to granting the annullment, the court order set out that the plaintiff shall have the right to marry again.

Deans Will Principal.

Miss Lawrence may be remembered as the pretty young woman to whom Robert E. Deans, wealthy Atlanta broker, bequeathed a large part of his estate. She is said to have accompanied him to Minnesota and cared for him while he was in failing health. Upon Deans' return to Atlanta, he is said to have made a second will, leaving a beautiful residence on Peachtree road to the contest beauty.

The Deans will is now involved in litigation in Fulton superior court following the filing of a petition by Frank Deans, who claims that he is a legal heir to the estate, being a son of the late W. O. Deans.

Colberg, alias McDermott, met Miss Lawrence in Rochester, N. Y., when she went there with Mr. Deans. Soon after she returned here, he is said to have followed her and their marriage occurred in Chattanooga soon thereafter, according to records of the department of justice.

Colberg Given Sentence

Colberg was tried and sentenced on October 30 to serve 18 months in the federal penitentiary here on a charge of violating the Mann act preferred by Miss Lawrence in the United States district court here.

After the marriage, according to the records, the couple returned to Atlanta and registered at a hotel as Mr. and Mrs. McDermott, but in a few days Colberg disappeared, leaving his wife a note indicating that he intended to end his life. He was followed to Chicago by federal officials, where he was arrested. He claimed to be suffering from loss of memory and denied his marriage to Miss Lawrence.

Miss Lawrence stated that Colberg told her he had been previously married but claimed that his first wife was burned to death 14 years before in a fire in which their home was destroyed. His first wife appeared in Chicago and furnished his bond when he was arrested, records show.

City Joins Dixie's Tribute

:: DAVIS SACRIFICE EULOGIZED BY SPEAKERS ::

To Confederate President

Atlanta and Georgia Thursday joined with the rest of Dixie in paying tribute to the memory of Jefferson Davis, civil leader of the Confederacy during the dark and stormy days of the war between the states.

The chief event in observance of the anniversary of Davis' birth was a gathering of Confederate veterans in honor of the southern president at the state capitol, Dr. J. W. Beeson, former head of Meridian college, Meridian, Miss., being principal speaker.

Banks and state offices were closed during most of the day, and civic clubs, schools and other organizations staged programs with Davis and the south's "lost cause" as their keynote.

Several hundred persons, many of them veterans in uniform—attended the ceremonies at the capitol Thursday afternoon. Dr. Beeson, the speaker, lived for many years in Mississippi, home state of Davis, and he pointed out great moments in Davis' career and paid tribute to his loyalty and love for the Confederacy.

No Crosses Awarded.

Mrs. Stafford Seidel, head of Atlanta chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, presided. The house of representatives hall was decorated in Confederate flags and flowers for the occasion. Special music was played by an orchestra.

No crosses of honor were presented at the Davis meeting, as is customary. Mrs. Forrest Kibler, recently elected custodian of crosses of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, announced that the crosses would be bestowed at a later date.

Amid the din of traffic and on ground where once armies of the southland ventured forth to battle, Eugene M. Mitchell, Atlanta attorney and member of an old southern family, delivered a eulogy to Davis before the City club. The session was held at the Piedmont hotel, and Mr. Mitchell was introduced by Joel Hunter, president.

"Jefferson Davis stands as a martyr because he became the vicarious sacrifice for the errors of his people upon altars of northern hatred," said the speaker. "He was thrust into prison, manacled with irons and threatened with the doom of a traitor.

Tells of Rescue.

"Two great northern leaders—Horace Greely and Henry Ward Beecher—came to his assistance and stood his bond. The indictment against him was nolle prossed, and with quiet dignity he retired to private life, but was pursued until his death in 1889 with the most malignant slanders and persecutions."

Mr. Mitchell prefaced his address by giving a sketch of the life of Davis, who was born in Kentucky in 1808. He traced his career at West Point, the Mexican war and through the civil war, calling attention to his imprisonment and sufferings in prison.

Former Governor John M. Slaton, guest of the club, was one of the first to congratulate Mr. Mitchell on his eulogy to the great Confederate leader.

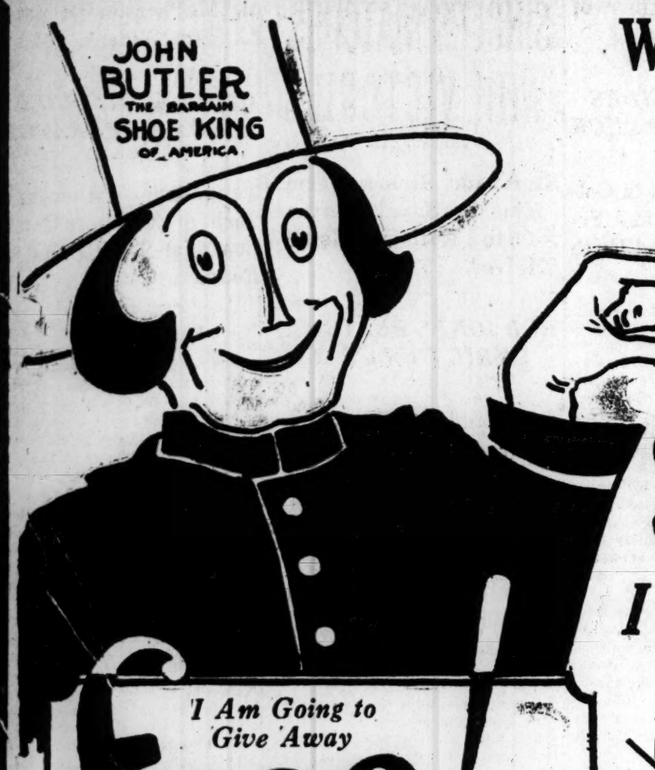

SENATE PASSES 90 MINOR BILLS AT NIGHT SESSION

Washington, June 3.—(AP)—After passing 90 minor bills the senate was obliged tonight to cut short its session because of the demand for a roll call on the Pittman measure directing the secretary of the treasury to complete purchases of silver at a dollar an ounce under the wartime silver act.

Only 41 senators could be mustered on the roll call and since this was 8 less than a quorum adjournment was taken until tomorrow. The vote stood 32 for the bill to 9 against.

City Names Bacteriologist.

Robert V. Speer was officially installed as assistant bacteriologist and chemist of the city of Atlanta at a meeting of the sanitary committee of council Thursday afternoon.

Georgia in Sound Financial Condition, Auditor Slate Tells Savannah Convention

Income Triples in Last 10 Years; Educational Survey Urged for State Institutions.

Savannah, Ga., June 3.—(Special) Something of a revelation in state advancement and development in a period of ten years is shown by State Auditor Sam J. Slate in an address delivered by him to the Association of County Commissioners of Georgia, at Savannah, Thursday, in which he shows only two states in the Union having a smaller public debt than Georgia and that Georgia's income in 1915 was $6,500,000, while in 1925 it was $18,500,000.

Addressing the men, upon whose shoulders, he said, the structural administration of the government rests, Mr. Slate said in part:

"In view of so much that has been said about Georgia I think it would be well for us to make a comparison of what Georgia has done in the last decade.

"Governmental expenditures everywhere have increased. Everywhere, with but three or four exceptions, the three greatest items of state expenditures are, highways, education and interest on public debt. Expenditures for highways and education will never, in my opinion, be lower. Georgia occupies an unique position as regards public debt. We owe a public debt now of approximately $5,000,00 and expend $310,000 per year on interest and principal, or less than 2 per cent of our total expenditures. Only Wisconsin and Florida have a smaller public debt than Georgia.

Income Triples.

"The income of the state of Georgia in 1915 was $6,500,000; the expenditures were $6,466,000. Georgia's income today is $18,500,000 and we will spend the entire sum this year.

"The state received in 1915 from the automobile road tax the sum of $30,000. This year the state will expend upon public highways $7,500,000. This fund is made available from the automobile license fees and the fuel oil tax. Of this fund, $6,000,000 will go direct to the highway department, and $1,500,000 will go to the counties for secondary roads.

"In 1915 the state spent $2,700,000 for common schools. This year the state appropriates the sum of $5,000,000. In 1919 the state appropriated for pensions $975,000. This year the state will appropriate $2,000,000. In addition to this, we have paid the back pensioners $2,900,000, received from the discount of the W. & A. rentals, paying all accrued arrearages in pensions.

"For higher education, in 1915 we spent $633,000, as against $1,320,000 to be spent in 1926. For the cause of education in, 1915 we spent $3,333,000; this year we will spend $6,320,000—a gain of $3,000,000 in ten years.

"For highways, education and pensions, together with our eleemosynary institutions, including the state sanitarium, the School for the Deaf and the Academy for the Blind, the state spends $17,000,000 of her income of 18,500,000. When we consider that we pay on the public debt $310,000 annually; for our courts $345,000 annually, for legislative expense $150,000, for our penal and corrective institutions including the training schools for boys and girls; this absorbs $900,000, leaving $600,000 for the other functions of state government.

"In 1926, the revenues to the Highway department, from state sources, will be $6,000,000. In addition to this there will be available $2,000,000 from the federal government, making a total of $8,000,000. Next year, the one-cent fuel oil tax now going to the general treasury will go into the highway fund, and that, with normal increase, should give us an income of $9,000,000 from the state, and $2,000,000 from the federal government, making a total of $11,000,000. In addition to these sums may be added whatever the counties may give. Revenue from motor vehicle licenses in 1925 was $3,010,000, and I am glad to state that by June 1, we will have reached that figure, and we still have seven months of the year 1926 before us. I only cite these figures to show you that our statement of increase in highway revenues is based upon substantial facts.

"We have yet before us the problem of proper educational facilities. The demands upon us have increased more and more every year. All of us believe in education, provided it is based upon sane foundations. The problem for us is now to secure adequate financial support for our public schools and our institutions of higher learning, and also to provide for the physical improvements of these properties. We have had many solutions proposed.

Survey Urged.

"In my judgment, Georgia needs more than anything else an intelligent survey of the education situation in this state, for us to ascertain our real needs and to formulate a progressive and sane plan upon which to build for the future.

"I believe something of this kind will have to be done if we are going to be able to devise plans by which to finance an intelligent program of educational expansion. My own belief is that the next legislature should appoint a commission, who should study the educational system of the state. This commission should have the right to call in and employ educational experts. In addition to this commission, a finance commission should be appointed, consisting of our most representative business men, and after the educational commission has formulated its plan, both commissions should meet and plan whatever should be done with Georgia's educational institutions and common schools. This commission should have full legislative enaction, and the legislature should be represented in its personnel, so that it would be the product of the lawmaking body of this state. When this commission has met and formulated a plan, then it will be the duty of the finance commission to propose a plan by which such expansion can be financed.

"This educational survey should go to the root of our troubles, and start with the grammar schools and plan for us a cohmprehensive system through high school, junior colleges, technological schools, normal schools, agricultural colleges, colleges for women, schools for colored, and ending with the great university itself—planning an entire system and telling us what is necessary to maintain same, and what is necessary for additional buildings and improvements, eliminating duplication and bringing our system up to meet modern requirements. This will be a work of months. We need basic facts about our educational system upon which we can build. At present we have no such facts. Such a survey planned intelligently, with a finance commission also studying Georgia's alibity to pay, will be of untold benefit, as at present we do not know what it will cost to maintain and equip a complete educational system in the state. I am not one of those who believe that we will have to issue large amounts of bonds, or go deeply in debt to accomplish this. A sane and progressive program would require five to six years, if we experience the same conditions as in other states, and scattered over that period the annual payments for improvements, buildings and grounds will not be so onerous.

"To a great extent you are charged with the supervision of placing the property on the books for taxation, as you have charge of the equalization boards of the counties. I want to urge you to insist that all property subject to taxation on Georgia go upon the books. It is manifestly unfair for any citizens to pay tax upon property and other citizens to escape taxation simply by not making proper returns. I know that this question has its difficulties, but I believe that you gentlemen can help largely in solving this problem, and I am absolutely convinced that it is your desire to help in solving it.

Nation Looks South.

"In 1920, a year after the close of the world war, France still possessed 67 per cent of the tangible property returned in 1914. In 1866, Georgia possessed only 37 per cent of the taxable wealth returned in 1860. The civil war left Georgia far more prostrate than the world war left the great republic of France. From the date the sword was laid down for the purchase of peace, this state has made steady progress. We have kept up our institutions. We have paid our debts. We have reduced out state debt from $11,000,000 to $5,000,000. We still have the W. & A. railroad. The whole history of the state leads us only to hope for better things in the future. The entire nation is looking to the southeast. Georgia occupies one of the most envieble positions of any state. She has unequaled climate and soil, untold wealth lies in her clays. She can produce practically every crop. Her water power is almost inexhaustible. She has great railroad lines, wonderful seaports close to the great markets of the world. These are her natural advantages.

"In addition to this, Georgia has the lowest rate of state taxation of any state in the southeast, and no great state debt with which to burden her future. No income tax, no inheritance tax, except such credits as are allowed by federal government, no burdensome taxes upon any class of property, and the lowest real estate valuations for the purposes of taxation according to federal authorities of any of the South Atlantic states."

what was termed a "wholesale attack on the entire department" as unfair to hundreds of honest, hard-working members of the force who conscientiously discharge their duties.

"Of course, there may be a rotten apple in the barrel," he said, "but that does not necessarily make the whole barrel bad." Mr. Dobbs declared that "the police committee is composed of a high type personnel, and stands ready to eliminate undesirables of the department, but the whole force should not be classed as 'permeated, controlled, dominated by and in the throes of a gigantic vice ring.'

"I just recently returned from a tour of Washington, Richmond, New York and Chicago, where I had every opportunity to observe. I made it my business to watch the police departments. Atlanta's department far surpasses those with which I came in contact and I am satisfied that the general standard of honesty here is as high if not higher.

"The morale of the Atlanta force is the highest it has ever been. There may be some members who prey on the underworld; they are rare and exceptional cases. If the matter is brought to the attention of the department heads, I feel sure that every effort to correct this alleged state of things will be made.

Not on Committee.

"I am not a member of the police committee, but I have taken great interest in the Atlanta police department since I have become connected with the city government and I believe that I am familiar enough with the workings of the department to speak with authority. Atlanta's force is a credit to the city."

Mr. Dobbs was a visitor at the police committee meeting Wednesday night when Mrs. Andrews, who several weeks ago charged that a member of council was drunk on the floor of council, made her latest charges. Mrs. Andrews appeared before the police committee of council to ask that body to choose as assistant chief of police the man whom Chief James L. Beavers will nominate for the post. This election is slated to take place early next week.

TEN MACON CHILDREN BITTEN BY TWO DOGS

Macon, Ga., June 3.—(AP)—Police are hunting for two dogs that bit 10 children here today. The health department has asked the victims to take treatment.

Fifty persons have been treated for dog bites since February 5, the health department reported.

GEORGIA LAUDED TO COUNTY HEADS

Savannah, Ga., June 3.—(AP)—Several addresses dealing with the progress Georgia is making along various lines featured the opening session here today of the annual convention of the Association of County Commissioners of Georgia, which was presided over by Rhodes Browne, of Columbus, president. Among those who spoke were John N. Holder, chairman of the State highway commission; Harvey Granger, Savannah, chairman of the Atlanta coastal highway commission; Dr. Thomas F. Abercrombie, state commissioner of health; Dr. J. Phil Campbell, head of the extension department of the State College of Agriculture, Athens.

T. E. Patterson spoke on "Relationship Between County Commissioners and Prison Commission," and Sam J. Slate, state editor, told of "Georgia's Finances." There were other impromptu responses to introductions.

J. S. Dunn, Molena, chairman of the executive committee, reported that the association was in a splendid condition, and Fred Houser, the secretary-treasurer, reported the association completely out of debt and with a comfortable balance, with most of this year's dues to be collected.

A number of resolutions were introduced and turned over to the committee on resolutions of which A. H. Kennedy, of Statesboro, is chairman.

Farm Progress

One of the most interesting talks of the morning was that of Dr. Campbell. Dr. Campbell talked on the wonderful results that have been produced along agricultural lines in Georgia during the past 10 years due to the co-operation of the counties and the state with the extension department of the State College of Agriculture. To show what progress has been made, Dr. Campbell gave some statistics, comparing the years 1920 and 1025. During that period the value of chickens and eggs produced jumped from $4,000,000 to more than $12,000,000 and the number of chickens from 7,000,000 to over 10,000,000 and the average value of chickens from 66 cents to $1 each.

In 1910 there was a market for cotton only in the state. Now there are markets for hogs, poultry, cattle, butter and cream, tobacco, peaches, pecans, syrup, watermelons, peanuts, apples and all kinds of truck.

Dr. Abercrombie spoke on county health organizations, and gave statistics to show how those counties which have organized health units have cut down the rate of deaths from preventable diseases to the minimum. He displayed charts of several counties showing that a great work has been done.

Eleven million dollars a year, or $66,000,000 for highway improvement during the next six years, is what Georgia will have, John N. Holder, chairman of the Georgia highway department, told the convention today.

Such funds, he said, would provide for the paving of 2,000 miles, all semi-paved roads can be surfaced, a large sum can be set aside for a revolving fund to aid the weaker counties so that a connected system of highways can be effected, and a much improved maintenance service provided.

3,000 Miles By 1932

Mr. Holder prophesied that by 1932 Georgia will have approximately 3,000 miles of paved highways and 3,200 miles of soil and sand-clay roads, for a grand total of good roads of 6,200 miles. He declared that Georgia is building hard-surface roads at a lower cost than any other southern state. Georgia, he said, ranks first among the eight vicinity states—Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, North and South Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia—in amount of federal aid projects and in mileage constructed.

"The overhead has been less than that of any other state with an equal amount of money spent for state aid highway purposes. Let us give consideration to the building of the balance of the mileage now on the state aid system," he continued. "The construction of 800 miles of dirt road in round figures will cost $5,500,000. If this $5,500,000 and the $6,000,000 for new bridge construction is substracted from the $66,000,000 road revenues estimated for the next six years there will still be $54,500,000 remaining.

"Fifty million dollars applied to the paving of 2,000 miles of roads at a cost of $25,000 per mile, would still leave $4,500,000. The semi-paved roads could be surfaced at a cost of $7,000 a mile, which would leave $1,000,000 to be used from year to year as a revolving fund to aid the counties that are financially weak.

Counties Should Aid.

"These counties should be called on to furnish funds for state aid road construction in proportion to their ability. No amount greater than that can be borne by these counties without proving too much burden should be exacted of them. At the end of six years," Mr. Holder told the commissioners, "all the roads of the state aid system will have been graded and drained. With the light traffic on most of them a surface top can be placed on them for $15,000 per mile. Three thousand miles will cost $45,000,000 which can be paid for with the income of the department in four years, as follows:

"State funds, $28,000,000; federal funds, $8,000,000; county funds, $9,000,000. Total, $45,000,000. In ten years the entire system as it exists today can be paved. However, other roads will be added in the future and with the annual income road building can continue and the people along the newly-added roads can be blessed with good roads.."

Roscoe Marvel, of Asheville, N. C., president of the Appalachian Scenic highway, spoke on the history of this road system which extends from Quebec to New Orleans via Atlanta. He emphasized the relative importance of permanently paved highways to the growth of any section.

Browne Speaks.

President Browne's annual address dealt with the disposition of several resolutions which were adopted by the convention at Athens last year. Among the resolutions to which Mr. Browne referred and which received no ear by the legislature were as follows: Legislation to protect public roads from abuse by extremely heavy log and timber wagons; legislation empowering county commissioners to borrow money for current expenses not to exceed 50 per cent of the probable income of the county for any one year; revised legislation to limit tax levies for current expense account so as to provide for a definite and fixed maximum amount for which a county tax can be levied.

President Browne appointed the following committee on nominations: A. J. Lippitt, Albany, chairman; M. C. B. Holley, Augusta; Welbourn Neal, Harris county; W. C. Hodges, Liberty county. Browne was presented with a silver loving cup and Fred Houser, secretary and treasurer, was presented two silver goblets.

The session adjourned at 12:20 and the delegation left at 2 o'clock for Tybee.

Banff, Alberta.—After being closed for 24 years, the coal mines at Anthracite, near Banff, may be reopened. Prolonged litigation caused the shutdown, but Alberta capitalists are arranging for the resumption of production.

SPRINGFIELD OFFICE YIELDS LITTLE LOOT

Springfield, Ga., June 3.—(AP)—Robbers who broke into the postoffice and the rail depot offices had little today to reward them for their efforts.

In the postoffice, entrance was made by smashing the "general delivery" window. Something over one dollar was their loot.

Officers are investigating.

Naval Air Bill Passed by House In Record Time

Washington, June 3.—(AP)—Sixteen minutes after it was taken up today, the house bill which would authorize a five-year building program for the naval air service, was passed by the senate. It was approved with some amendments, which means it must go to conference for adjustment of differences between the house and senate.

The measure, which provides for an estimated outlay of $85,000,000 during the next five years, was passed without debate and without a record vote. The entire 16 minutes was taken up by a clerk in reading the bill, section by section.

Provision is made for the construction of 1,947 planes, as well as two rigid airships, each three times the size of the wrecked Shenandoah, and the maintenance of a minimum strength of 1,000 useful heavier-than-air craft.

The bill also would create the office of second assistant secretary of the navy for aviation and other duties and provides that any officer of the marine corps or navy qualified to command an aviation school, air station or air unit organized for flight tactical purposes shall be a qualified naval aviator.

The airships, of a type suitable for use as adjuncts to the fleet, would be of approximately 6,000,000 cubic feet volume each and $8,000,000 was set as the construction cost for both.

By years the following heavier-than-air craft construction would be authorized: 1927, 235 planes, $12,285,000; 1928, 313 planes, $16.223,750; 1929, 335 planes, $17,582,500; 1930, 357 planes, $18,941,250, and 1931, 374 planes, $20,046,250. Provision also is made for the building of 333 other planes.

OVERMAN OPPOSED BY R. R. REYNOLDS IN CAROLINA FIGHT

Charlotte, N. C., June 3.—(AP)—North Carolina citizens were preparing today to go to the polls Saturday to nominate a United States senator and to choose primary candidates for state and city offices.

Senator Lee S. Overman, veteran of many years in the upper congressional house, is opposed in the democratic primary by Robert R. Reynolds, of Asheville. While the incumbent has made no campaign speeches, his opponent has visited practically every county in the state and has announced as the time nears that he is "confident."

The campaign in every respect has been practically devoid of issues. Only in a few local instances has an issue been injected. An entire general assembly is to be nominated, which is held as a whole to be equivalent to election because of the overwhelming democratic vote polled in the past.

YOUTHFUL FORGER IS GIVEN SENTENCE TO SUNDAY SCHOOL

Memphis, Tenn., June 3.—(AP)—"Go to Sunday school and get this jazz out of your head," Judge Harry B. Anderson, told John Lewis Horn, 19, bank clerk, and released the youth on probation after he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of forgery.

A sentence of a year and a day in the federal prison was suspended under the probation order.

"What'll I do with him?" the judge asked a jury waiting to hear another case.

The court approved the suggestion and Horn was ordered probated to his attorney.

CONDUCTORS' WAGE DEMANDS REFUSED

New York, June 3.—(AP)—The demand of 80,000 conductors and trainmen of eastern railroads for a 20 per cent wage increase was refused today by officials of the roads at the termination of a two-day conference with representatives of the Brotherhood of Conductors and Trainmen.

It was stated, however, that the conferees had agreed upon mediation of the demands of the brotherhood under the Watson-Parker act for settling railroad labor disputes. The case will be submitted to the board of mediation provided by the act as soon as it is appointed by President Coolidge.

John G. Walber, chairman of the conference committee of managers of eastern railroads, representing about 50 lines east of the Mississippi, issued a statement after the conference saying the railroads felt the demanded increase was not justified in view of present operating expenses and the present wage scale.

The wage increase demands were received by the railroads January 2 last, at which time they were given until March 2 to reply. The increase sought ranged to from $1 a day to $1.64 a day, and it was estimated by railroad officials that if granted it would total between $85,000,000 and $95,000,000.

CAMPAIGN PROBE BODY ORGANIZES

Washington, June 3.—(AP)—The special senate committee directed to investigate expenditures in senatorial primary and election campaigns this year organized today with election of Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, as its chairman. It will meet tomorrow to map out a preliminary program of procedure.

The committee had its first meeting after the senate had adopted a resolution limiting its expenses to $10,000. Senator Reed, author of the resolution creating the committee, agreed to this amount and called attention that a smaller sum was spent by the celebrated Kenyon committee which investigated expenditures in the pre-convention presidential nomination campaign in 1920.

Politics Prevent Expected Speech Of Willebrandt

Atlantic City, N. J., June 3.—(AP) Intimations that Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, United States attorney general, was trying to use the General Federation of Women's Clubs to further plans of the department of justice today led her to cancel her engagement to speak to the federation convention on the subject of federal industrial prisons for women. Miss Julia K. Jaffray, of New York city, thus explained Mrs. Willebrandt's absence.

Miss Jaffray, chairman of problems of delinquency and member of the board of advisers of the projected federal prison at Alderson, Va., urged the women, in spite of the criticism emanating from recent congressional hearings, to continue their support.

The need for an added congressional appropriation of $1,700,000 to care for 300 federal women prisoners in excess of the 200 cared for in an initial $9,000,000 appropriation, brought about the present strained situation, according to Miss Jaffray. The prison is under construction. It is to be a model institution. The additional appropriation was approved by General Land, director of the budget, at hearings before the appropriations committee of congress.

"It was intimated that Mrs. Willebrandt, whose official duty is to guide the development of the institution and aid in the establishment of its policies, was attempting to influence congress by using the General Federation of Women's Clubs for propaganda," said Miss Jaffray.

"She has refrained from coming to this convention, even at our earnest request to talk upon this topic, so that no suggestion can be made that she is using the forces of this great organization to carry out the plans of the department of justice."

Mrs. Willebrandt's telegram of explanation, read to the convention, stated:

"Regret inability to speak on women's prison appropriation bill not yet reported to congress and anything I might say concerning plans for institution would therefore be premature. Thought appropriation matter would be settled before speech or would not have promised."

'Bargain Shoe King' Opens Big Atlanta Store Today

A shoe store with a new idea is to make its bow to Atlanta this morning and if the interest which has attended the advance announcement is any criterion, the new concern will quickly find its place in the business life of the city.

For the past week a queer looking character appearing in the advertising columns of Atlanta newspapers has been causing no end of comment. This character has been proclaiming the fact that a new era of merchandising was about to be ushered in; that a newcomer was coming to Atlanta with new ideas regarding prices and service and that in this newcomer, the working classes would find a true friend. The character now turns out to be none other than John Butler, "The Bargain Shoe King of America."

The new shoe store, known as Butler's, is located at 7 and 9 Decatur street, just a few steps from Five Points. The formal opening is scheduled for 8 o'clock this morning and an indication of the uniqueness of the new institution is found in the souvenirs which have been provided for customers. Instead of the customary flowers, perfume or favors, Butler's will present to customers on opening day, food products featuring some of the leading articles in this section. Hams, bacon, flour, sugar, coffee, syrup, preserves, relishes and other articles are at the new store in profusion and each customer is to receive some one of these articles with the compliments of the firm.

The policy of Butler's, according to announcement by officials, will be to sell at the lowest possible price and cater particularly to the wage-earner. Men's, women's and children's shoes are carried in stock and many unusual values are featured for the opening day. The public is cordially invited to visit the new store today and share in the many treats provided.

STUMP TO OPPOSE SENATOR WATSON

Indianapolis, June 3.—(AP)—Albert Stump, of Indianapolis, a world war veteran who has never held public office, today was selected as democratic candidate for the six-year United States senatorship at the party's biennial convention. He will oppose Senator James E. Watson, republican candidate, for reelection in the fall.

The stampede to Stump at the completion of the roll call on the third ballot was viewed by political prognosticators as the passing of democratic leadership in Indiana from Thomas Taggart to younger hands. The suddenness of the swing to Stump left the Taggart leaders who had been jockeying John E. Frederick, of Kokomo, into position for nomination on the fourth ballot, without resource, and the quick appearance of the veteran Taggart as acting chairman failed to halt the procession of counties abandoning Frederick and William K. Cullop, former congressman of Vincennes, for Stump.

CHANGES ARE ASKED IN TRAFFIC PLANS

Changes and revisions in the York traffic plan, portions of which have been in operation in Atlanta for about a week, were recommended Thursday at a joint meeting of merchants, members of the Atlanta Safety council, the Atlanta Motor club, Retail Food Dealers and Harry York, author of the plan. These recommendations probably will be presented to council at the regular meeting Monday.

Chief among the changes are the following:

Broad street to be made non-parking on both sides between the hours of 7 to 9 in the morning and 4 to 7 in the afternoon, and one-hour parking on both sides between 9 and 4 o'clock; Walton street from Spring to Marietta the same as Broad; and parking on the west side of Pryor street from Auburn avenue to Houston, the south side of Edgewood from Peachtree to Exchange place, the north side of Decatur street from Ivy to Peachtree, the west side of Peachtree from Luckie to Forsyth street, which—according to the plan—would be non-parking on both sides, and one-hour parking on the other side of the streets would be allowed by the proposed changes in the plan, and all congested areas from Cain street on the north to Trinity avenue on the south, Spring street on the west and Central avenue and Ivy street on the east, shall be one-hour parking where not otherwise provided.

The original plan was placed in operation on Peachtree, Whitehall, Mitchell and Broad streets and since that time has been the subject of criticism, but has been defended by a number of sponsors of the measure.

"Atlanta must evolve some modern system of traffic regulation in keeping with her rapid growth," Councilman York said in discussing proposed changes after the meeting. "I am in favor of any change which will help relieve congestion, and we welcome constructive criticism. What Atlanta needs is observance of the laws we now have."

SOUTHEASTERN POWER DECLARES $1 DIVIDEND

New York, June 3.—(AP)—An initial quarterly dividend of $1 a share was declared today on the participating preferred stock of the Southeastern Power and Light Company and the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share on the preferred. Both are payable July 1 to stock of record June 19.

Tangled Status Of Man May Halt Deportation Plan

Wanted—a country willing to accept Antonio Morenzo, alias Lester R. Sullivan, alias several other entitlements.

M. A. Coykendall, immigration director for this district, will have to deport Morenzo as soon as a sentence now being served at the federal prison is completed. For Morenzo classifies as a criminal alien, and, as such, must be sent back to the land of his nativity.

But that's the puzzle. No one has been able to definitely locate the country to which Morenzo owes his technical allegiance.

Morenzo when first arrested said he was a Spaniard. Later he denied his first statement and said he was born in Uruguay, that his father was Spanish and his mother Afghanistan.

Not satisfied, however, he again changed his story when entering the penitentiary here last January and swore that he was a Hindu, born in the East Indies.

In order to seek further light immigration authorities traced Morenzo's record in this country and discovered that at one time he filed papers of intention to become an American citizen. In these papers he swore that he was a native of Jamaica.

According to Mr. Coykendall, Morenzo's appearance would bear out the truth of any one of his claims to Spanish, Uruguayan or Jamaican nativity. He doesn't look much like a Hindu, however. But it is Mr. Coykendall's duty to discover the truth out of the many conflicting stories and arrange for the man's deportation.

Morenzo has the greater part of a three-year sentence to serve, following conviction on a white slave charge. He will not be released until 1928, which gives Mr. Coykendall ample time, apparently, to solve the puzzle. On the other hand, however, it likewise gives Morenzo ample time to claim a number of other portions of the globe as the place where he first saw daylight and thereby further complicate the matter.

In the meantime if there is any nationality which would appreciate the honor of accepting Mr. Morenzo's citizenship, communications will at least be read with interest in the office of the immigration department in the federal building.

PHILLIPS URGED FOR TENNESSEE FEDERAL POST

Washington, June 3.—(AP)—Appointment of Lindsay Phillips, of Memphis, as United States attorney for western Tennessee, was urged upon Attorney General Sargent today by Tennessee republican state leaders. Mr. Phillips was presented to Mr. Sargent by Hal H. Clements, republican state chairman of Tennessee, and R. R. Church, a member of the state committee.

Mr. Phillips also is understood to have the indorsement of Representative Taylor, who is republican national committeeman from Tennessee.

DIXIE AID ASKED FOR FARM RELIEF

Washington, June 3.—(AP)—With the fate of farm relief legislation admittedly hanging on the action of members from cotton states, southern senators today joined in the discussion of the McNary equalization fee measure.

Sponsors of the bill, which is similar to the Haugen proposal, rejected by the house, admit that it cannot pass unless supported by southerners, some of whom expressed doubt as to its wisdom.

McNary Leads Fight.

Senator McNary, republican, Oregon, who is leading the fight for the bill, was subjected to a fire of questions during the debate and he shot back with vigor and feeling. He declared the measure would favor the producer and consumer and that opposition was coming from the middleman and profiteer.

FLOYD SCHOOL BOARD PLANS SPECIAL TAX

Rome, Ga., June 3.—(AP)—The Floyd county board of education has recommended a special tax on property outside of incorporated towns for the employment of county agricultural and home demonstration agents.

The board acted on information that such employment can be done under the decision of the supreme court holding that a county-wide tax is not permissible.

Mine Owners Move To Break Strike Deadlock

London, June 3.—(AP)—A move to break the deadlock in the coal strike in Great Britain was taken today by the mine owners with the approval of the government. Evan Williams, chairman of the mining association, sent a personal letter to Herbert Smith, vice president of the miners' federation, suggesting that a conference be held by a small committee representing the two sides to discuss means of ending the dispute.

NORTH CAROLINA RELIEVED OF COSTS IN PROPERTY LOSS

Washington, June 3.—(AP)—A house bill relieving the state of North Carolina from paying approximately $1,900 for war department property lost or destroyed while it was in the custody of the national guard of that state was passed today by the senate.

JUNIOR COMMERCE CHAMBER MEMBERS HEAR DR. ELLIOTT

An address by Dr. Thomas Elliott, pastor of the First Methodist church, of Fayetteville, and singing of negro spirituals by Big Bethel choir, featured a meeting at 12:15 o'clock Thursday of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at the chamber building. Plans also were formulated for the annual picnic and dance at Lakewood park June 17.

Dr. Elliott spoke on "The Further You Go, the Better It Gets." This phrase was used in referring to the growth of the south. The speaker reviewed the history of Georgia and the south from the time of the Civil war and compared the present day with those of the Civil war period.

He predicted a continued era of prosperity and urged young men to take advantage of their opportunities. "Georgia is in better condition than she ever was in during the history of the state," the speaker declared. He pointed out the resources of the Empire State of the South and ended by extending an invitation to the members of the junior chamber to attend a service in the First Methodist church Sunday morning at which time he will speak on "Stay South, Young Man! Stay South!"

Plans are being perfected to send a large representation to the national convention of the junior chambers, which is to be held in Jacksonville, Fla., June 23 through 24.

MORE MONEY NEEDED FOR PUBLIC BUILDINGS

Washington, June 3.—(AP)—Federal buildings authorized by congress during the last 13 years but uncompleted because of inadequate funds will gain first consideration in the government's construction program as decided upon today by the treasury and postoffice departments.

The $165,000,000 public buildings bill recently passed authorized an appropriation of $15,000,000 for the completion of 66 projects, most of them authorized in 1913. About half of that appropriation will be sought immediately so that work may be begun on some of the projects this summer.

First attention will be given to larger cities on the list, and on this basis Seattle, Wash.; Madison, Wis., and Syracuse and Yonkers, N. Y., probably will be among the cities in which work will be started shortly. Others include St. Louis, Des Moines, Akron, Utica, Prescott, Ariz., and Newark and East Orange, N. J.

It is planned to put under contract all of the 66 uncompleted structures within three years. While funds were appropriated for them some time ago, rising prices of materials made it impossible to complete them with the funds available.

With work started on this program, it is the plan of Secretary Mellon and Postmaster General New to conduct a nation-wide survey to determine the needs of other cities for which $100,000,000 was authorized in the recent bill. It is the hope of Supervising Architect Whetmore of the treasury, who will supervise the survey, to complete it by fall, so that the first installment of the money needed may be appropriated at the next session of congress and work started next spring.

The cities in which it is planned to begin work immediately probably will be determined this week and the request for an appropriation submitted to congress without delay.

Lovers of Apple Go to Cornelia For Ceremonies

Prominent citizens, including a delegation from the chamber of commerce and representatives of other organizations, will go to Cornelia Friday to the unveiling of a great concrete apple which was made to promote public interest in the apple industry of north Georgia. Preston S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Railway and Power company, will deliver the principal address at the unveiling ceremonies.

The big red apple, eight feet high and seven feet wide, has been mounted on a concrete platform near the station of the Southern railway at Cornelia and is in full view of passengers who pass through Cornelia on trains.

J. Frank Beck, of Atlanta, owner of several apple orchards in Habersham county, will preside at the exercises. Mr. Beck, in association with Fairfax Harrison, president of the Southern railway, and other citizens of North Georgia, led the movement to build a monument to the apple industry in Cornelia.

Will E. Fort, mayor of Cornelia, will deliver the address of welcome. Judge J. F. Gray will welcome the visitors to Cornelia on behalf of the Cornelia Kiwanis club. The monument will be unveiled by Miss Sallie Lou Hill.

DR. STEVENSON WILL QUIT CITY FOR EVANGELISM

The Rev. Frederick D. Stevenson, pastor of Peachtree Road Presbyterian church, is expected to announce Sunday his plans to resign as pastor at the next meeting of the Atlanta Presbytery to be held June 28 and to devote his activities hereafter as a Bible teacher and evangelist in association with W. D. Nelson, evangelistic singer of Chicago.

In his new venture the pastor will have support of the members of his congregation, several of the church officers having agreed to underwrite the future work of the pastor in the evangelical field.

Peachtree Road Presbyterian church was founded by the Rev. Stevenson. It has grown from a Sunday school of 35 members to a church and Sunday school with more than 300 members. A new church building has been erected near Buckhead. A manse and Boy Scout hut also have been erected during the pastorate of Dr. Stevenson. Arrangements have been made to handle a large crowd at the church Sunday when Dr. Stevenson will announce his future plans.

PONZI IS READY TO ANSWER CHARGE IN MASSACHUSETTS

Jacksonville, Fla., June 3.—(AP)—Through his counsel, Charles Ponzi, 1920 Massachusetts coupon and 1925-26 Florida real estate "wizard," probably will ask, court attaches here aver, that the governor of Massachusetts issue extradition papers upon the governor of Florida looking toward his return to the Bay State.

Ponzi, facing a prison sentence in Florida for his alleged fraudulent real estate "declaration of trust" operations, has been given until Monday to appear before the Massachusetts superior criminal court in Boston for sentence of seven to nine years as a result of his postal savings sales. An appeal from this sentence was recently denied by the Massachusetts supreme court.

Ponzi will not fight the extradition to Boston, he told Chief Duval, County Deputy Sheriff E. D. Vinzant, Jr., and Assistant County Solicitor H. M. Scarborough today. He said he wanted to return so that he could appeal the case to the United States supreme court.

$2,000,000 Issue Of Gold Notes Asked By Power Concern

The Columbus Electric and Power company Thursday filed a petition with the state public service commission asking permission to issue $2,000,000 worth of face value, three-year, 5 per cent gold coupon notes.

The money is to be used in financing the South Georgia Power company, a subsidiary company of the Columbus Electric and Power company. The money is sought to purchase land for erecting transmission lines and for other expansions.

DRY REFERENDUM DELAY IS SOUGHT

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

Washington, June 3.—Complete condemnation of the wet program including the proposed national referendum was pronounced Thursday by the senate judiciary subcommittee in concluding its work which began with the famous senate beer hearings two months ago.

The subcommittee recommended indefinite postponement of the wet bills which for all practical purposes kills them at this session.

This leaves the wets in a better frame of mind than might be supposed. Had the bills come into the senate for a vote they would have been miserably beaten and would have showed how few votes the wets actually have at this time. But the dry strategy has served to conceal this situation. Instead of exposing the wets to a defeat on a show-down, it enables them to go to the country and report that the drys refused to allow the modificationist measures to come to a vote in the senate.

Blocking of the national referendum also is more acceptable to the wets than they admit publicly. Nobody knows better than astute politicians like Bruce and Edge that a prohibition referendum at this time would show a predominant number of states dry. Wets would not expect to carry more than a dozen at the most.

But now, denied a national referendum by the drys, the wets can concentrate on the New York state referendum in November. And if they win that their cause will be immeasurably advanced.

The biggest puzzle of this whole liquor fight is the unwillingness of the drys to welcome a show-down now while they still are in control. Their repressive tactics encourage the wets to martyrdom, fan discontent and give the wets what they most want—time in which to argue the question before the country. Wets would lament a defeat would end their hopes.

Padlocks Bar Mrs. Wright From Taliesen

Spring Green, Wis., June 3.—(AP)—Iron gates and padlocks today prevented Mrs. Miriam Noel Wright from renewing her place as mistress of Taliesen, country home of her estranged husband, Frank Lloyd Wright.

Mrs. Wright made a futile attempt to enter the home late today during the absence of the architect. Accompanied by four newspaper reporters, she demanded admittance at the gates of the estate, but was turned away by a caretaker of the grounds there with two other men.

District Attorney N. S. Boardman, of Mineral Point, said he issued a peace warrant to Wright's sculptress wife in the sum of $500 for service on Wright or his representatives at Taliesen to prevent them from molesting her in her effort to again establish her residence in Wright's home.

After Wright had dismissed his divorce suit his wife announced she intended returning to his home because she was "penniless." Wright indicated at that time that she would not be welcome if she came there.

17 MEN ARRESTED IN LYNCHING PROBE ORDERED RELEASED

Fort Myers, Fla., June 3.—(AP)—The 17 men arrested in connection with the lynching at Labelle on May 11 of Henry Patterson, negro, were ordered released from jail today by Judge George W. Whitehurst, of the circuit court, after a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus. Nine of them must furnish bonds in the amount of $10,000 each to appear before the Lee county grand jury in November. The others were released without bail.

NOTED GEM THIEF HELD IN NEW YORK

New York, June 3.—(AP)—Charged with having stolen several hundred thousand dollars worth of jewelry from Fifth avenue jewelers during the past twelve years, Mrs. Mildred Dervoe, 28 years old, was arrested today. At the time she had $30,000 worth of jewelry in her bag, some of it identified as having been stolen from jewelers four years ago.

DECISION ON W. & A. MATTER RESERVED

The court of appeals of Tennessee Thursday heard contentions of the State of Georgia and the city of Chattanooga in the litigation involving the extension of Broad street and Eleventh street, in that city, over Georgia owned property and at the end of the hearing announced that decision would be reserved, according to a telegram received by The Constitution from Attorney General George M. Napier, who presented the argument for Georgia.

In announcing that it would reserve decision until later, the court stated that the supersedeas order issued recently restraining the city of Chattanooga from further attempts to open these streets, remains in force.

Attorney General Napier contended before the court that the property owned by the state of Georgia and leased to the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad is now being devoted to public use. He stated further that property devoted to one public use cannot be diverted to another and inconsistent public use without passage of enabling legislation by the general assembly of the state. He also contended that the city of Chattanooga should not attempt to open this street without arranging to protect the interests of the state of Georgia at the end of the present lease which has 44 more years to run.

Chattanooga's case was presented by the city attorney who contended that the city had the right under condemnation proceedings to proceed with opening of the two streets across the state property, making arrangements to pay whatever damages may be fixed by proper authorities.

GREAT BRITAIN FEARS SITUATION IN EGYPT

London, June 3.—According to the Daily Mail's political authority, it is very likely that Great Britain will parade her military strength in Egypt as a result of the threat of a possibly serious situation in that country.

Meanwhile, it is asserted, England is directing warships of the Mediterranean fleet to take up positions off Port Said, with a view to safeguarding her position.

First Ripe Melons Start Northward, Heralding Season

Apple blossom time in Normandy, maple sugar time in Vermont, rhubarb pie time in Indiana, and pretzel time in Milwaukee, may be all right in their places, but from now on good old Georgy steps out away ahead of all of them with the ne plus ultra of all time—watermelon time.

It's watermelon time from now on for the rest of the summer, according to agricultural sharks, and the first yields of the season are being stowed away in box cars in south Georgia for shipment to the markets of the world.

Senegambian eyes soon will open wide at the sight of juicy red meat, and Senegambian lips will tremble in impatient anticipation. It's a season that is highly indorsed by epicureans, Chicagoans, Bostonese, Gourmets, and even in Georgia's anti-watermelon eating movement would have short life.

Last year Georgia supplied one-third of the watermelons consumed in this country, according to government statistics. July is the real watermelon month, but south Georgia and Florida usually begin shipping in June.

Georgia this year used 54,000 acres for watermelon production, an increase of 25 per cent over last year. Last season a big crop of fine quality combined with a fair price, netted large financial returns and melon growers this year hope for another good season.

ALLOCATED TO SOUTH.

The official announcement is made that the United States shipping board will put six freight ships into trans-Atlantic service between Jacksonville, Savannah and Charleston, and European ports, beginning June 15. The ships will be operated under the direction of the South Atlantic Steamship line of Savannah. Manager Hawkins, of the United States Shipping Board Fleet corporation's southern offices, in Memphis, is quoted as saying, in a recent visit to Atlanta:

"It is apparent that the shipping board in its efforts to improve and augment its services from South Atlantic ports must have the unqualified support of shippers in this section and secure assurances of large blocks of cargo to justify them in improving and continuing this service, which is of such vital importance to the South Atlantic states and Georgia in particular. The southeast has been long clamoring for a regular shipping service from South Atlantic to European ports. We have now arranged for it, and it is up to the people to say whether or not they will support it."

This is the most advanced step toward the development of the southeastern ports that has yet been taken, and deserves the encouraging support of shippers in order that further allocations may be made to the South Atlantic. It will be recalled that all efforts toward trans-Atlantic ship allocations for these ports have heretofore failed, although limited allocations have been made for the Central and South American trade. If these six American bottoms, sailing on regular and frequent schedules out of Savannah, Charleston and Jacksonville, are made to pay, and there is no reason why they should not be even extremely profitable, then the services will be enlarged, and we may expect passenger sailings from the southeastern ports within a reasonably short time.

More than half the export cotton is now moving in American bottoms from the gulf ports. The bulk of these shipments formerly were made by rail to the east and thence by foreign bottoms to the European ports. Much of this export business should be handled through the South Atlantic. The same applies to naval stores, lumber, phosphate rock and other large export commodities that are produced largely in the south.

The service as announced is of great value in the development of a port section that has long suffered from discriminations. The step is of immense economic interest to the entire south.

UP TO THE SENATE.

The house acted wisely in ratifying the French war debt settlement. The senate should do the same thing in a quick, businesslike way and thus not permit the adjournment jam to deter an action that is inevitable. Playing politics with these settlement agreements is not wholesome. Nor will the subterfuge that the ratification of the pact with France will strengthen the hand of Premier Briand hold water. The fact is this government can do nothing of a more constructive nature in helping France evolve from her present quixotic position than to help Briand stabilize his nation's finances, and reestablish her credit. France is in that very peculiar position of being economically sound in industry, agriculture, employment and all the factors that enter into private economics, while her franc is worth only a small fraction of its pre-war value, her legislative branches torn by factions, and her financial standing in international relations far below par. If the United States can help, by indirection, her official rehabilitation, as her own people are succeeding in readjusting satisfactorily their private affairs, the welfare of this nation will have been served, and much of Continental Europe's troubles removed. England is crowded with unemployed. Industry is closed. Private economic conditions are bad. And yet the government's credit was never better, and her entire official status never more satisfactory. The two nations are separated only by a narrow channel.

There is something wrong, and it will certainly ill behoove this nation to accentuate that wrong. The French settlement pact is as liberal as it should be, but figure it as one may, even to satisfy political purposes, and the result is the same—that is that a practically frozen credit is liquified, and that in time the United States will have had full payment of the entire obligation. What more should be sought if we are sincere in our protestations of friendly cooperation in helping the rehabilitation of the war-torn nation's of Europe?

Every word spoken in direct opposition to the French pact has a political significance. In this the opponents are showing bulldog dispositions in serious violation of the spirit of 1917 when we entered the world war.

MR. HOLDER'S ADDRESS.

In an address before the Georgia County Commissioners' association at Savannah Thursday, Chairman John N. Holder, of the state highway board, is quoted as favoring the setting aside of $1,000,000 from the state highway fund as "a revolving fund to be used from year to year to aid the counties that are financially weak." He is reported to have followed with the statement:

"These counties should be called on to furnish funds for state aid road construction in proportion to their ability. No amount greater than can be borne by these counties without it proving too much burden should be exacted of them."

If a pay-as-you-go plan is to be definitely accepted by the people of Georgia then the suggestion that a revolving fund be established to help the weak counties is a good one. But this cannot be done except by law, and it will require a complete revision of the state highway system, as we have repeatedly contended, in order to do this. And it at last comes to The Constitution's position that to be effective the state must be made the unit, enabling the "weak counties" to finance themselves through such a revolving fund in order that their own links of mud may not discount the paving of the adjoining strong counties.

The suggestion of only a million dollars as a fund to finance the more than 60 counties that are unable to bond for their state paving pro ratas will at best result in at least one step in the right direction.

THE PEACH MOVEMENT.

The Georgia peach crop is moving and it promises to be one of the largest in volume and finest in grade in the state's history. The cold spell in early April following closely the Fort Valley blossom pageant turned out to be a blessing. It struck the inferior fruit at a psychological time, adding to the color, flavor and size of the surviving—thereby making up the volume deficiency.

The pertinent question now is, will this excellent crop be marketed to the best advantage? That does not merely mean "to advantage," but will the growers get out of it what the Georgia superiority entitles them to?

If California could grow and market at the same time we do the same crop in volume and quality that we do the market prices on the choice fruit would be a third more. Why? Because California has learned the lesson of standardizing a fruit trade mark by proper advertising as well as the proper distribution. It has learned the fine art of packing—not throwing them into a shipping container, but packing according to expert grading, wrapping, labeling, etc. It has learned the art of small packages to meet the consumers' demands—not "dumping" on fruit stands to be sold at so much a dozen in a paper bag.

Other states beside California grow raisins, but there is a well-known brand of raisins marketed from that state at a premium because the brand is nationally advertised and the quality and package maintained as advertised.

The Georgia peach is the best peach in the world. It finds the big markets first. It ought to bring premium prices over any other peaches in the world, and regardless of the size of the crop find a consumptive market as staple as that for Cuban cane sugar.

With the advantage of superiority no effort should be spared to properly capitalize it.

Nowadays the poor man has very little to growl about if he can meet the monthly payments on the new auto, and rise to the occasion when gasoline climbs higher.

Whatever other measure of fame and glory Poland attains the names of her patriots will never be a pronounced success.

Julep standing near you—
Best one ever made!
Cool breeze to fan you
Into sweetest sleep;
Leave me there, a-dreamin'—
You that sow can reap!

Reap—reap away—
The grass'll come to hay;
There's never room for trouble
Where Junetime dreamers stay!

Leave me there, a-watchin'
The clouds sail round the blue;
You almost see in heaven,
But there's a heaven, too!
In a hammock swingin'
All the drowsy day,
In a dreamer's paradise
Dream the world away!

Dream the world away
Till life is old an' gray;
Never room for trouble
Where you dream the world away!

Put one-half on this side o' you
The other half on that,
An' then you git betwixt 'em an' begin!"

And there's another, with a tragic turn to it, as follows—

"Don't want no moon,

For to light my way
Fer de melon patch;
Fer de white man wait

Fer ter blow me cl'ar

Demands Abolition Of Discrimination New York Delivery

Editor Constitution: The Constitution prints an article by Theodore Price, of New York, on the question of "southern delivery or New York delivery" of cotton.

The decision of this question to be decided alone by members of the New York cotton exchange means millions of dollars saved to southern cotton mills and cotton farmers. And neither of these interests have a single vote pro or con. Not a single congressman has expressed a demand to save this great economic waste for mill and farmer.

No cotton mill in Georgia can buy its supply of cotton from the Georgia farmer. The Smith-Lever cotton futures act prohibits the mill from buying cotton from the local farmer. This same law compels the Georgia farmer to sell his cotton, freight paid, to New York.

Under this law a mill at Greensboro, N. C., buys from an Atlanta merchant a bale of cotton; although the freight rate is only 70 cents per 100 pounds Atlanta to Greensboro, the Atlanta merchant charges $1.70½ per 100 pounds, the freight rate to New York. This same bale of cotton was bought delivered in Atlanta from a Cedartown, Ga., farmer; the farmer pays 39 cents per 100 pounds railroad freight to Atlanta and is paid the New York delivered price less $1.00½ freight rate and 6 per cent deduction for weight of bagging and tires, getting paid for only 470 pounds to the bale and paying freight on 500 pounds. The Atlanta merchant takes the 39 cents paid freight bill from the farmer and the railroads refund the merchant 34 cents per 100 pounds in cash.

If that same bale of cotton was sold to the Exposition Cotton mills in Atlanta the Cedartown farmer would have to pay to the Atlanta merchant $1.39 1-2 per 100 pounds or nearly $7 a bale and the Exposition Cotton mills would refund the Atlanta merchant $5 a bale "theoretical" freight to New York.

A few years ago under a "gentlemen's agreement" the steel manufacturers of the United States fixed prices on steel at Pittsburgh delivery, thus a ton of steel made and delivered in Birmingham or Atlanta—purchased for a building in Birmingham or Atlanta—had to pay the Pittsburgh f. o. b. price and freight from Pittsburgh to Birmingham and Atlanta. Under United States government ruling this practice was discontinued.

Repeal the Smith-Lever cotton futures act and leave cotton free to bring at any mill door the best obtainable price.

Just in Passing

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMON

What a small world we live in after all! The other day in the little port town of Laguna del Carmen, in Campeche, Mexico—away down in Central America, just to the west of Yucatan and Guatamala—our ship was loading chiclet from which commercial chewing gum is made.

Looking over the railing at the Indians who were engaged in the loading, I saw a fine looking business man stepping hurriedly and authoritatively about, ripping out some Spanish here and Maya there, and occasionally a word of English.

He looked—in that crowd of half naked natives—like an only jewel in a ship stoker's skull cap.

I inquired his name.

"Roberto S. Boyd, the wealthiest citizen in Campeche and the finest gentleman ever," the Spanish captain told me in broken English.

"American?"

"Yes!"

Then I proceeded to go ashore, look "the wealthiest citizen" up, and introduce myself and party.

"From Atlanta?" And he laughed heartily—

"Well, I know you and almost intimately. I take The Atlanta Constitution, and read every word you write. I am a native of Dalton, Ga.—Robert S. Boyd. The 'Roberto' is just the Spanish, you know."

And then cigars!

Boyd went to Central America when quite a boy, just after the Civil war. He married into an excellent Spanish family, and has since made his home in that far away heart of the tropics. He handles the chiclet production for Wrigley and is a large stockholder in that great American corporation.

J. Homer Christian, Jr., won the silver loving cup for being the best all-around student in the 1926 graduating class of the Boys' High school—a signal honor in a class of 105.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Homer Christian, of 138 Penn avenue, and his father is one of Atlanta's leading business men.

Homer, Jr., was editor of a school page during his senior year, and naturally enough, after completing his University education, may take up journalism as a profession.

What a thrill the parents must feel when their only child, in whom all of their hopes are centered, and upon whom the responsibilities of the future to properly carry on must rest—what a thrill to have a boy, in a great class in a great city the size of Atlanta, who acquits himself so finely!

And then, such a big, red-blooded, all-American boy as Homer!

The newspaper profession needs young men of this type.

Governor and Mrs. Walker, Colonel Peel and many other of the Georgia delegates are off to Santa Monica, Cal., to attend the annual convention of the Bankhead National Highway association and the United States Good Roads exposition.

I am first vice president of the Bankhead National Highway association and am on the convention program, but a recent prolonged absence visiting the jungles of Central America will make it necessary to remain at my desk for a while now.

The Bankhead is a marvelous transcontinental system, and decided progress has been made in connecting the paved links, especially in the Carolina, and in the southwestern states.

How It Seems To An Outsider "Looking In."

Editor Constitution: Being a nonresident of Atlanta, but a frequent visitor to the city, I read with much interest what some of the merchants had to say about the new traffic laws now enforced on some of the main streets of Atlanta. If I stay away from the city two weeks I expect to have to learn a new traffic law when I return. I do not see how the people that live in the city are able to keep up with the laws, much less those who live out of the city.

The merchants are on the "inside looking out." I am on the "outside looking in"—and it is about as bad on us as it is on them. If I want to stop at a bank for three or four minutes I have to drive my car maybe two or three blocks or further to park and walk back to bank for four minutes' business and the same when I want to go in one of the stores to purchase something and will take about five minutes, or possibly I might want to buy something that I could not carry two blocks to my car. It just forces me to trade at some other place where I can park my car for a short while.

I am of the opinion that there is too much stress put on cross-town traffic. It is not any worse for a man to be delayed crossing town than it is for a man to lose time trying to get to a bank or a store. If a man wants to go across town by way of Peachtree and Whitehall let him start in time to go that way. If I want to get to the bank before it closes I start with expectation of having to walk two blocks or more. I am aware of the fact that this traffic law is a hard proposition to please all concerned, but it seems to me, as an outsider, that the law to allow limited parking is fair to all.

GRANTS FILE SUITS FOR INCOME TAXES PAID UNDER DURESS

Suits were filed Thursday in the federal court here by John W. and Mrs. Annie Inman Grant, against Joseph T. Rose, collector of internal revenue, seeking to recover alleged unjust income tax payments "made under protest and duress," covering the years 1920, 1921, 1922 and 1923.

Sums involved in two suits total $55,896.36. One, filed in the names of both Mr. and Mrs. Grant, asks for refund of $28,384.52, covering a principal sum of $25,884.52 and interest which was paid under protest as deficiency income taxes for 1923. The suit sets forth that a claim for refund having been denied, recourse is now had to the federal courts. A technical point involving the right of both parties to file separate returns also is involved.

The other suit, which involves Mr. Grant only, involves a total of $27,511.84 and covers items in the 1920, 1921, and 1922 income tax returns. It is claimed in both suits that proper allowance for depreciation in the Grant building property, including elevators therein, was not made in computing the taxes.

The Grants are represented by the law firm of Slaton and Hopkins, of Atlanta, and Richard H. Wilmer, Washington, D. C. attorney.

CLERK IN MAIN POSTOFFICE HELD IN STAMP THEFTS

H. E. McLarin, a clerk in the main postoffice here, was arrested Wednesday on charges of removing uncancelled stamps from parcel post matter. McLarin served at the incoming parcel post window and had ample opportunity to remove stamps not perfectly affixed, it was stated.

McLarin was arrested by Postoffice Inspectors Barry and Ellis. At a hearing before the United States commissioner he was held for the federal grand jury under bond.

McLarin was appointed to the postal service in 1913 and served at the Fort McPherson office during the war. He was later stationed at Oakland City and Station A, having served in the main office for about two years.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WM. BRADY, M. D.

TESTS FOR HANDEDNESS.

A left-handed individual is left-footed as well. A right-handed individual may scarcely realize that he is right-footed, until he tried to do certain things with his feet, say a clog dance. Then he finds that he has greater skill in the preferred foot.

The dynamometer, which measures the strength of the grip, gives a hint, but scarcely a positive indication of handedness, for many other influences may affect the strength of the grip or the strength of other movements of the hand. As a rough rule the preferred hand is the stronger.

Another test is the number of taps which the hand will make on a key in a given number of seconds. The preferred hand is usually the more efficient in this test.

In the tracing test the individual attempts to pass an electric stylus beween two strips of metal without touching them. He can do this better with the preferred hand.

The right hand is the more sensitive to slight differences of heat or cold in a right-handed person, the left in a left-handed person, but this test is inconclusive because it involves the participation of the subject.

Professor W. Franklin Jones, of the University of South Dakota, reported 12 or 15 years ago a fairly reliable test by anthropometry. He devised a simple instrument for the accurate measurement of the "ulna plus," that is, the length of the forearm from the elbow to the middle of the knuckle. This instrument is called the brachiometer. Professor Jones found in 10,000 brachiometer tests 417 children who were natural or native left-handers—that is the length of the ulna plus was greater on the left side, while in the other 9,853 the ulna plus was greater on the right side. The ulna plus is greater on the preferred side even in young infants. In his studies Professor Jones encountered more feeble-minded children and stutterers than statistics would lead one to expect, and he said that fact caused him to fear any attempt to transfer from natural left-handedness to artificial right-handedness.

Other investigators using the Jones brachiometer have not found it wholly reliable.

Four or five years ago an intensive campaign was carried on for the "cure" of left-handedness among the pupils in the schools of Elizabeth, N. J. Only two or three cases of stammering or stuttering occurred among the 250 left-handed children who were compelled to change to right-handedness, according to Beaufort S. Parson, who believes, from the Elizabeth experience, that there is no particular danger of such a speech impediment as a result of enforced change from left-handedness to right-handedness, though he thinks the attempt should be abandoned when stuttering occurs. I do not know why they decided that left-handedness needed "cure" in Elizabeth. Few prisons make inmates wear stripes nowadays.

Man was ambidextrous or rather nondextrous away back. Primitive warfare, the use of spear, club or sword and shield, made him start training the right hand more than the left for skill. But left-handedness still occurs in spite of universal right-handed environment, and I can't see any good reason why we should attempt to interfere with nature's plans.

SHOWERS TO COOL ATLANTA TODAY, WEATHERMAN SAYS

With the mercury reaching 90 degrees Thursday afternoon, C. F. von Herrmann, local meteorologist, predicted moderately lower temperatures, with the possibility of thundershowers for today and tonight.

Thursday morning the mercury registered 68 degrees at 6 o'clock. By 7 o'clock it had reached 74, and continued to climb throughout the day.

DETECTIVES RECOVER VALUABLE DIAMOND

A diamond ring valued at $750 was recovered by Detectives John Starnes and Newport A. Lanford Thursday after they traced John Mims, negro, to Greenville, S. C. Mims, who was arrested in the Carolina city, will face charges of larceny in Fulton superior court. The ring was the property of W. M. Wilson, of 918 Piedmont avenue.

Wilson told the police he placed the ring in the pocket of a pair of trousers and sent them to a pressing club. Later he called for the ring at the place, but was advised it was lost, he said. A sudden trip to Greenville was taken by Mims and this gave the officers a clue. The ring was found in a local pawnshop.

Looking and Listening

BY SAM W. SMALL.

Tomorrow, June 5, the primaries in North Carolina will be pulled off. The main interest centers in the renomination or defeat of Senator Lee S. Overman, who has adorned the national senate for nearly a quarter of a century. He is the second oldest member, being outranked by Senator Warren, of Wyoming. His influence as a national legislator has grown with the years and it seems unthinkable that his constituents will retire so able and high-ranking senator to try a new hand at this critical time in party and public affairs.

However, in twenty years a new majority of voters grows up and a public man must be a lively mixer among them, watch his step and not forget to ask warmly about "Mollie and the baby?" Popularity is a peculiar plant—the purple orchid of politics—and must be continuously attended, for it lives on hot air!

* *

Monday, the 7th, Iowa will be a seething pot. That day the republicans, immaculate and insurgent, will fight out a senatorship between Senator Cummins and ex-Senator Brookhart. The latter, it will be recalled, was unseated early in the year, because, in a contested recount, it was found that the Iowans by a small majority had accidentally elected Steck, a democrat. Now Brookhart wants revenge by retiring the veteran Cummins and glaring at Steck across the chamber.

From a purely republican point of view it would be a distinct loss to the senate and the nation to defeat Cummins; but, if he is defeated by Brookhart, there is a big promise that enough republicans will come over the line to elect Claude Herring, an able and statesmanlike democrat, in the November balloting. But, say, can you imagine Iowa with two democratic senators? You can, when you look at Kentucky with two republicans in that body, and Oklahoma in the same plight!

* * *

Then, on Tuesday, the 8th, Florida democrats are to decide whether they will keep the sterling and indefatigable Senator Fletcher, or replace him with a new and inexperienced man. The personal and political predilections of Florida voters have changed so much in recent years that anything odd in final results might happen down there. But the latest reliable reports indicate that Senator Fletcher's advanced position and great influence in the senate will lead the solid business and producing people to insure his return for another term.

There are few men on the democratic side of the senate who can compare with Senator Fletcher in full and accurate knowledge of shipping and foreign trade, and none on the republican side who is his peer in that most important field of national legislation. To take him out of the body now would be a deplorable loss to his state and the country.

* *

The only other senatorial primary in June will be in North Dakota where Gerald Nye, the non-partisan incumbent has been already designated by a maverick convention, but where a democratic contender is to be named as an evidence that there are yet some democrats in the North Star state. No senatorial primary will occur in July but in August there will be a flock of them—Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Kentucky, Ohio, Alabama, California and South Carolina; to be followed by Nevada, New Hampshire, Wisconsin, Arizona, Colorado, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Vermont and New York in September.

Out of the mess of nominations and re-nominations old stagers in both parties see emerging the surety of a democratic majority in the next senate. But for which party that event will be a matter for congratulation is the puzzle on the political board of the future.

Methodist and Baptist baseball teams will clash on the Hapeville Orphans' home baseball field Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, with Judge John D. Humphries, of Fulton superior court, on the mound for the former team. Jere Wells, county superintendent of schools, and Walter B. Stewart, county commissioner, also will play for the Methodists.

R. O. Adams and H. E. Thrailkill are expected to star for the Baptists. The proceeds will go to the orphanage.

POSTOFFICE BURGLAR HELD TO FEDERAL JURY

C. D. Martin, colored, was ordered held for the federal grand jury under bond of $1,000 on a charge of entering Jackson's Drug store at 504 Decatur street and stealing $30 worth of stamps, at a hearing before United States Commissioner L. S. Ledbetter Thursday.

It is alleged that the negro on the night of May 27 entered the store, part of which is used as a branch postoffice, and stole the stamps, in addition to between $300 and $400 worth of merchandise.

LIGHTS OF NEW YORK

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

New York, June 3.—While I was silently gazing at shelves upon shelves of "de luxe" editions of famous French masters in a Fifth avenue book emporium, a husky, blustering gentleman came in and bought a set of Maupassant for $2,800. The bindings were exquisite, tasteful and really pieces of art. I wondered if he spoke French or if the set perhaps was the one daughter-dear was to get for a fine present. It seemed he had read my thought: "If you want to be smart these days yah gotta have some of them French books. Nobody can read them but Frenchmen, but they look good in the library." Poor books, what a destiny for De Maupassant!

The real book lover, I submit, is not given to sets, picked for him by others. Worst of all, they're selling sets of standard authors these days, for the business man apparently, with everything cut out but a bare outline of the story. The flavor, the fine touches are all missing. They are like a tasteless soup, good for nothing but watering the flowers.

A young musician who lives on Sullivan street, in a top garret, told me he is waiting for inspiration to write an opera. This was ten months ago.

At chance meetings I inquired from time to time how the work was progressing. He shook his head sadly.

I met him again yesterday. He was a new man. I didn't need to ask any questions this time. He was radiant with smiles. "It has come," he said. "I am at work on a great score. It will create an impression."

I asked him how the marvel had occurred. He told me. "For five years," he said, "I was in the habit of frequently artist clubs and Bohemian gatherings. I listened and took part in discussions. It all seemed so futile.

"The other day I took a trip in the country. I came to a farm where a young girl was driving the cattle from the barn into a nearby meadow. The meadow was pale green and the girl's cheeks were rosy.

"The picture enchanted me. I went back to my room that night and looked out the window. I could see that field and suddenly I felt the music and the poetry of it all. It flooded my whole being. I could not do anything else but put it on paper. It will be a masterpiece."

MORE THAN 1,000 PUPILS GRADUATED

More than a thousand students were graduated from Atlanta's four junior high schools Thursday morning. At O'Keefe Junior High school 250 diplomas were awarded; at William A. Bass Junior High school 350 diplomas were awarded; at Hoke Smith Junior High school 175, and at Joseph E. Brown Junior High school 248.

Thousands of parents and students filled the Wesley Memorial church to capacity when the Bass and O'Keefe exercises were held. Dr. R. M. Eubanks, president of the board of education, presented the diplomas to the Bass graduates, after which J. H. Smith, principal, expressed his appreciation to the students for their cooperation and splendid work during the term ended.

At exercises of the O'Keefe school 250 diplomas were awarded. S. M. Hastings, principal, addressed the students and presented the high-point honor cup of the year to Miss Margaret Wells who, it was announced, acquired 730 points for activities during her three years at O'Keefe Junior High.

Willis A. Sutton delivered a message to the graduating class of the Hoke Smith school and diplomas were awarded by W. W. Gaines.

Joseph E. Brown graduated 248 seniors at exercises in the school auditorium. Dr. Eubanks delivered diplomas. W. A. Sutton also spoke to the students.

City Schools End Most Successful Season Today

For some 50,000 Atlanta school children this day is the greatest day, most significant day and most wholly satisfactory day in the year 1926—

School is over—

At 11 o'clock this morning, which marks the end of the most successful term in the history of the Atlanta public school system, classrooms will be emptied, not to be filled again for three solid months.

Books will be packed up and laid away, with a message from Willis A. Sutton that the term ending has been the greatest in achievement.

Children will not only go out with fine scholastic records behind them, but will leave with good teeth and a record of health of almost 100 per cent. Every pupil in 39 of 49 schools in the city has attained the 100 per cent goal, a mark which Mr. Sutton declares stands out prominently over other schools.

DALLAS SHRINERS WILL BE GUESTS OF YAARAB TODAY

Approximately 200 nobles of the Heller temple and their ladies, of Dallas, Texas, headed by Z. E. Marvin, potentate, and Asher Mintz, recorder, will be guests of Yaarab temple today on automobile trips through the city and at a dinner at the Masonic club. Albert L. Dunn is chairman of the entertainment committee.

The Shriners are en route home, after spending several days at the imperial council meeting in Philadelphia. The party will leave Atlanta at 8:30 o'clock tonight for Dallas. They are slated to arrive shortly after noon.

ALL SAINTS' CHOIR WILL BE IN CHARGE OF CAMP OPENING

A feature of the opening week-end of the Y. W. C. A. camp at Highland, Ga., will be the vesper service in the open Sunday afternoon to be conducted by Dr. W. W. Memminger, rector of All Saints' church. The vested choir will attend with the choirmaster, W. E. Arnaud.

Those planning to take part will meet at All Saints' church Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock and make the 12-mile trip to Camp Highland in cars.

BUSINESS CLUB MEET AT HENRY GRADY HOTEL

The American Business club will hold its regular luncheon meeting today at 1 o'clock a tthe Henry Grady hotel. It will be the last meeting before Atlanta members depart for Peoria, Ill., where the club's annual convention will convene June 9 for a three-day session.

Plans for the trip to Peoria and activities of the Atlanta delegation will be discussed at today's meeting.

Judging of babies will be based on physical requirements and the six will be divided into three groups, from infancy to one year, one to two years and two to four years. Prizes will be awarded in each division and favors will be given all babies.

INJUNCTIONS HALT ALLEGED LOAN SHARKS

Temporary injunctions restraining so-called "loan sharks" or assignment buyers from prosecuting garnishment proceedings were granted Thursday by Judge E. D. Thomas in Fulton superior court, following filing of petition by alleged victims.

J. P. Beauchamp filed suit for injunction against the Atlanta Finance company, the City Finance company, the Railroad Loan company, the Union Purchasing company and the City Purchasing company. Saturday, June 5, was set as the rate for hearing on injunction.

Lester Riley filed suit against O. B. Blocker and J. P. Oliver, co-defendants, and the Bristol Finance company. June 12 was set as date for hearing.

W. A. Funderburke filed the largest number of injunction suits against the Federal Investment company, Grant Trading company, Boston Trading company, Green Investment company, Southern Finance company, Miller Investment company, Kash Supply company, City Purchasing company and United Finance company. Judge Thomas set June 12 as the date for hearing.

All three plaintiffs are railroad employees and suits uniformly allege that salary buying was at illegal rates of interest and against public policy.

One of the suits pointed out that the plaintiff in 1918 borrowed $25 from one of the defendant companies. He alleges that he has paid the company $400 interest on that loan and still owes it $64. He borrowed the money under a 15-day loan at interest of $2.50 he said. Since the time of borrowing he alleges that the company contends that he still owes the principal and has only paid part of the interest.

PARDONED HERE, OLD "UNCLE ASA" AGAIN IN TOILS

"Uncle Asa" Patterson, recently pardoned from a life sentence in Georgia chaingangs on account of old age and feebleness, is again on the gang, but this time in Pickens county, South Carolina, according to news received in Atlanta Thursday.

The old man seems to have left all his trouble for his old age. He became involved in a brawl in Pickens county, Georgia, 45 years ago, in which his opponent was killed, and he received a life sentence for murder. He escaped jail and fled the state, however. Establishing himself in South Carolina, he remarried, reared a second family of children, and according to all advices, lived an average respectable citizen's life.

Last Christmas, however, he revisited Pickens county, Georgia, to see his son by his first marriage. He was arrested there for possession of liquor, was recognized and sent to the chain gang to serve the life sentence imposed nearly half a century before.

On account of his age and feebleness, however, he was pardoned and returned to South Carolina. It now develops, according to latest reports, that he faced a conviction in that state, from which he had appealed to the appellate court. He lost his appeal, however, and is reported as now serving a nine months' entence in South Carolina.

OTHER TROUBLES LOOM FOR NEGRO RECENTLY PAROLED

Charges of forging and passing veterans' checks and of raising postoffice money orders have been made against John McMillan, paroled negro convict, who is now held in Fulton county Tower. Operatives of the federal secret service stated Thursday that they will present further evidence in the case to the federal grand jury as soon as that body meets.

McMillan was sentenced to serve two to four years on the Fulton county chaingang in 1923, but after serving two years was paroled in custody of R. E. Steed, of 658 Stewart avenue. Government checks payable to Tom Stipe, world war veteran and brother-in-law of Mr. Steed, were sent to the Stewart avenue address. Several disappeared and were cashed with a forged indorsement, federal agents assert. Merchants identified McMillan as the man who gave them the missing checks as payment for clothing, it is stated.

O'KEEFE JUNIOR HIGH WINS PRIZE IN HEALTH

O'Keefe Junior High school won the loving cup as the Atlanta junior high school correcting the most physical defects among the children with a percentage of 49.7 per cent, it was announced at commencement exercises Thursday.

The cup was presented by Cator Woolford, president of the Retail Credit company, who sponsored the move and supplied a full-time physician to the four Atlanta junior high schools. A special nurse was supplied each school by the various parent-teacher associations and Mrs. D. G. Wise had charge of the work at O'Keefe.

The contest was based on the physical examination for each child and the corrections of any defect. All defects were reported to the parents and methods of correction were given. In connection with the loving cup contest, health buttons were distributed at each school to every child showing no defects, those correcting defects or those with 100 per cent perfect teeth.

Final figures for the O'Keefe school showed that there were 561 students defective, of which number 280 were corrected. The nearest competitor to O'Keefe was Hoke Smith Junior High school, which had 510 defective children and 211 corrections, with a percentage of 41.3. Joseph E. Brown was third, with 34.8 per cent corrections, and William A. Bass school last, with 28.4 per cent corrections. The contest was begun January 1.

Following students were graduated from Junior O'Keefe:

GRADUATES OF MARIST GET DIPLOMAS TONIGHT

Academic commencement exercises of Marist college will be held tonight at the Woman's club auditorium on Peachtree street, according to announcement from the Rev. D. S. Rankin, principal of the college. The closing military exercises were held on the Marist campus Thursday afternoon under direction of Major Eugene Schmidt, commandant of the cadet corps.

At that time military warrants were conferred and individual medals were awarded winners. The cadet corps entertained the large number of visitors with competitive drills and a dress parade.

Considerable interest is attached to the academic program tonight as winners of the junior and senior declamation contests held recently will be announced. These winners will receive medals offered by friends of the college.

There are 22 candidates for graduation and diplomas will be awarded by the Rev. James A. Horton, president of Marist.

Joseph W. Bean, coach and athletic director of Marist college, will present athletic awards for the year. Marist had a successful season in all sports and the football team last fall was awarded the city prep championship.

Prizes and awards to leading academic students will be made by Principal Rankin. The valedictory will be delivered by John P. Campbell, first lieutenant of the cadet corps.

The address to graduates will be made by Dr. David Marx.

BOYS' HIGH SCHOOL GETS HIGH HONORS

"Best in the Fourth Corps area," was the distinction awarded Thursday to R. O. T. C. of Boys' High school in information received by Prof. H. O. Smith, principal. Mr. Smith stated that he had been advised that the school had been designated the honor of all schools in eight states having R. O. T. C. units. It is the highest honor of its kind obtainable.

The award is made on the showing of the military unit. Scholarship of members, discipline, cooperation between academic and military authorities are all factors taken into consideration by the judges.

Senate Votes $2,000 To Great Britain For Subject's Death

Washington, June 3.—(AP)—A house resolution authorizing payment to Great Britain of $2,000 for a full indemnity for the death of Daniel Shaw Williamson, a British subject who was killed by a policeman at East St. Louis, Ill., July 1, 1921, was adopted tonight by the senate.

More Sweet Girl Graduates Than Ever Receive Diplomas

Miss Mary Broughton (left) and Miss Mary Tucker (right) were snapped by Francis E. Price, Constitution staff photographer. They took part in the graduation program of Girls' High school Thursday night. Miss Broughton is winner of the Atlanta Journal loving cup for being the best all-round student and Miss Tucker is winner of the Agnes Scott scholarship. She has been a leader in student activities for the past four years. Both won the distinction of membership on the cum laude list of the school.

Atlanta sustained its reputation of being a "city of beautiful girls" Thursday night when 241 "sweet girl graduates" of Girls' High school were awarded diplomas at the 54th annual graduation exercises.

Not only was the city's reputation among critics of feminine pulchritude fortified, but Atlanta turned out in large numbers to see the flower of the "beautiful half of the city's youth" in the grand finale of their high school careers. And it was a sight worth seeing. The auditorium was packed with friends, relatives and connoisseurs of beauty.

The Girls' High school graduation is always looked on as an important event in Atlanta, and Thursday night, when the largest class in history was presented diplomas, citizens packed every avnialble seat.

Eubanks and Sutton Attend

Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools, presided, and Dr. R. M. Eubanks, president of the board of education, presented the diplomas. Mr. Sutton also delivered scholarships and prizes as follows:

Miss Marie Bachman, the Marsh prize for excellence in English; Miss Mary Broughton, the Atlanta Journal cup; Miss Fannie Heiman, winner of the $100 home economics scholarship to some Georgia college; Miss Lucille Coleman, $20 in gold offered by the American Chemical society; Miss Mary Tucker, the Agnes Scott scholarship offered by the alumnae of G. H. S.; Miss Margaret Jackson, Shorter college scholarship offered by the alumnae of Shorter.

Miss Broughton, winner of the Journal cup, was president of the student government, member of cum laude of the group, and has been connected with the student government association for the past four years. She is succeeded by Miss Margaret Mozley. Miss Mary Tucker, winner of the Agnes Scott scholarship, was president of the Mallon society and also is a member of the cum laude group. She will be succeeded next year by Miss Elizabeth Medlock, who, as president of the Mallon society, will be president of the student body.

Cum Laude List

The cum laude list was announced for 1926 as follows:

Miss Rachel Neely, Miss Mary Tucker, Miss Lois Combs, Miss Hilda Gumm, Miss Mary Broughton, Miss Kathéryn Harris, Miss Elizabeth Curtis, Miss Alene Fox, Miss Dorothy Lambert, Miss Janie Hunter and Miss Dorothy Guy.

Additional features of the program included songs by the graduating class and two addresses, "The Occasion—the Audience," by Miss Tucker, and "The Next Step," by Miss Broughton.

"The class this year is the largest and most remarkable in the whole history of Girls' High school," Miss Jessie Muse, principal, declared Thursday as she arranged final details for the exercises. "All members of the class have been every effort to make this year the greatest and their efforts have been rewarded. Of course, we hate to see them go, but, you know, they still will be our friends and they know what educational advantages really mean in the way of culture and preparation for one's life work."

The list of those receiving diplomas follows:

Cadet J. M. Ivy Awarded Furlough From West Point

Cadet James M. Ivy.

Cadet James M. Ivy, class of 1928, United States Military academy, West Point, N. Y., who formerly attended the Winthrop school, Rock Hill, S. C.; Marion institute, Marion, Ala., and Oglethorpe university, son of Mrs. David F. Leake, 555 West Peachtree street, has been granted a two and a half months' furlough upon conclusion of graduation exercises of the class of 1926, it was announced here Thursday.

Except for short Christmas leaves (none during first Christmas at the academy), this furlough is the only long leave of absence granted to a cadet during his four years. The practice of granting furloughs is historic in the annals of the academy, dating from 1910. They are granted to cadets of each class at the end of their second year. Marking a welcome relief from the strict discipline and the difficult academic work of the preceding two years, it affords a chance to visit family and friends who, in many cases, have not been seen since entering the academy. It is eagerly looked forward to by every man from the day he is first enrolled as a cadet at the military academy.

VIRGINIA TEACHER COMMITS SUICIDE

Norfolk, Va., June 3.—(AP)—Miss Virginia Anderson, 22-year-old high school teacher here, was found dead in her room with an empty carbolic acid bottle by her side when members of the family with which she lived were forced to break into her room when she failed to respond to the summons to dinner.

Miss Anderson, a native of Farmville and graduate of the college of William and Mary, is believed to have drunk the poison when grief occasioned by the death two weeks ago of her father, Dr. William E. Anderson, became too great for her to bear. She had been dejected since she returned after attending the funeral, her friends declared.

She was well known in Norfolk and was a popular member of the younger social set in the activities of which she took a leading part until her father's death. She is survived by three sisters and one brother, all of Farmville. The body will be taken to her old home tomorrow for burial.

CLAYTON HIGH SCHOOL CLOSES YEAR'S TERM

Clayton, Ga., June 3.—(Special.)—The graduating exercises of the Clayton High school have been on for the past four days. Professor J. A. Sharp, of Young Harris college, preached the commencement sermon on Sunday night.

A class of 14 received their diplomas Tuesday night. The literary address was delivered by Colonel John W. West, of the Dahlonega Agricultural college.

PARENT-TEACHERS BACK CITY BONDS

Branding as selfish and unpatriotic the attempt on the part of certain business interests of the city to prevent validation of the $8,000,000 bond issue, the Atlanta council, Parent-Teacher association, Thursday adopted resolutions asking that all those interested in schools of the city to use every influence to cause withdrawal of the court action.

The resolutions pointed out that about 33 per cent of elementary school students and about 25 per cent of junior high school students are now without the advantages of standard classrooms on account of lack of funds to provide them and that the school population in Atlanta is increasing at the rate of approximately 3,000 annually.

This condition demands the best thought on the part of citizens and any attempt to prevent validation of the bonds and the $3,500,000 allocation which is to go to the school department should call forth protest from citizens, the resolutions set out.

This protest was added to protests made last week by Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools, and Dr. R. M. Eubanks, president of the board of education.

Resolutions indorsing Mr. Sutton's health program and asking a survey of Atlanta's recreational facilities, looking to the establishment of an all-year-round recreational program, in order that children may have wholesome enjoyment of their leisure time, and resolutions seeking correction of all physical defects listed against pupils during the summer months, were passed by unanimous vote of the assembly.

KNIGHT IS AWARDED DEGREE BY COLLEGE

Dr. Lucian Lamar Knight, distinguished Georgia historian, orator and scholar, has again been honored with a doctor's degree. This time it comes from King college, Bristol, Tenn., the alma mater of Dr. James I. Vance, of Dr. J. Sprole Lyons, and of many other noted graduates. On the border line of Virginia, it is also in close affiliation with the "Old Dominion."

Dr. Knight was invited to deliver the baccalaureate address during the recent commencement, and when the trustees met in annual session they resolved by unanimous vote to surprise the speaker by conferring upon him the degree of doctor of letters. In awarding the degree Dr. Scherer, the president, stated that the honor was conferred "in recognition of Dr. Knight's prestige as a scholar of national note and because of the signal service rendered by him to literature and to history, especially in our beloved southland."

Some time ago the University of Georgia made Dr. Knight a doctor of laws. He also holds the scholastic degree from Princeton, one of the best biographies of Mr. Wilson having come from his pen. Recognition also has come from abroad. In 1918, England made him a fellow of the Royal Society of Arts, a distinction which has rarely crossed the water and esteemed by common consent one of the highest literary honors of the world. Dr. Knight is a many-sided man. He is not only a ripe historian, but a brilliant orator, an organizer and a successful man of affairs. He is the founder of Georgia's department of history at the state capitol. On retirement from office he made a world tour to gather material for his latest work, "Tracking the Sunset."

Bobby and Watts Star as Americans Win Matches

Both Atlanta Boys Overwhelm British In Walker Cup Play

Jones, Gunn and Sweetser Only Americans To Win in Final Matches for Coveted Prize—Atlanta Boys Now To Enter British Open Tourney.

pionship on June 23. And a number of American professionals are in England to assist in pursuit of the prize already held by an American, Jim Barnes.

Bobby Jones showed the way for the visiting team by piling up the most impressive victory ever achieved in the competition when he defeated Cyril Tolley, ace of the British team, by a score of 12 up and 11 to play. Bobby shot superb, unbeatable golf for his entire round, while Tolley was sadly off his game on certain holes.

Watts Gunn, the youthful running mate of the mighty Jones, was scarcely outdone by his older companion, for he crushed W. G. Brownlow, the Irish nobleman, by a score of 9 and 8.

Jess Sweetser, winner of the British amateur title at Muirfield last week, played superb golf to defeat Sir Ernest Holderness by a score of 4 and three.

George Von Elm and Major C. O. Hezlet battled to the 36th green to end their match in a half giving the Americans the winning half point.

Francis Ouimet went down to defeat before the stellar playing of Rogers Wethered, former British champion, and Jesse Guilford, the Boston "siege gun," was bested by Robert Harris, winner of the British amateur title in 1925.

Bob Gardner, captain of the American team, and Roland Mackenzie, the youthful Washington star, were defeated by Arthur Jamieson and E. F. Storey, respectively.

Bobby Jones shot seven consecutive fours on the last seven holes to defeat the British ace, after shooting the morning round in 71, one under fours and even fours for the outgoing and incoming journey. Tolley won but one hole, the sixteenth, where Bobby cut his second into a bunker from a difficult lie. The score of one under par for the Atlanta star was one stroke better than that of Rogers Wethered who executed the 18 in 72 strokes, a feat of no mean proportions. Bobby gained his stroke by holing a 75-yard approach shot for a birdie two on the eleventh.

Tolley braced a little at the seventh but failed to better the perfect golf of the American. The Englishman shot to the road on his approach on the seventeenth and took a seven to Bobby's safe five, then ended the morning round by picking up on the eighteenth.

Many British fans who said that Watts Gunn played such wonderful golf on Wednesday because he had the great Jones for a partner had to reconsider their statements Thursday when the Atlanta youngster crashed out a 9 and 8 triumph over the titled Irishman, Brownlow.

Gunn led the sturdy Irishman from first tee to last green, playing all his shots with mechanical perfection with the exception of two or three holes. Brownlow put up a game struggle, but he lacked the driving power and accuracy of his youthful opponent.

The Hezlet-Von Elm match was the key to the situation. At the end of the first round, Von Elm was 4 up with nine holes to play. It looked as though three of the last four matches would go to the home country. Thus the result of the Von Elm match looked like the deciding issue and with the American holding so strong a lead there was little interest. But soon the rumor spread like wildfire that Major Hezlet had squared the match, and the rumor was true. Spectators by the thousand rushed to see the finish.

As the players teed their balls for the final hole, they were all square. Both hit two full shots, the American and British balls being on the green in two each. Von Elm had the putt first and his ball went nearly two yards past the hole. Hezlet, who was left with a 4-yard putt for the hole and match, struck the ball truly but not quite boldly enough. Ten thousand eyes watched it dribble toward the hole and 10,000 eyes saw it stop three inches short, when, if it had legs, it would have gone down. That meant a halved match. It also meant America had won the Walker cup by this margin of victory.

Jess Sweetser, playing the steady, faultless game which carried him to victory in the amateur tourney, trounced Sir Ernest Holderness, the English veteran, by a score of 4 and 3.

They halved the first five holes, and the English star finally went into the lead with a birdie four on the sixth. However, Sweetser immediately squared it by winning the seventh, and the next two were halved to make the match even on the first nine.

Sweetser, playing the brand of golf that won him the amateur title at Muirfield, won the tenth and eleventh, but two sensational shots gave Holderness the thirteenth after the twelfth was halved. Sweetser won the seventeenth, and ended the morning round two up.

The afternoon told much the same story, with comparatively few holes halved, and the American finally ended the match on the thirty-third green.

Ouimet was sadly off his game in many spots Thursday when he went down to defeat before the magnificent play of Rogers Wethered who shot a 72 for the first 18 holes.

Francis played a fine par 38 going out in the morning round, but Wethered turned in a 34. Ouimet tried hard all the way, but was far from the top of his game, while Sir Roger was shooting magnificent golf at all stages.

Sweden Defeats South Africa

London, June 3.—(AP)—With the victory today of Sweden over South Africa in the Davis Cup competition, the play in the European zone of the international tennis tournament has reached the semi-finals.

Of the four surviving nations, Spain is bracketed now with Great Britain in the upper half, while Sweden is paired with France in the lower half. They will meet some time before July 13 to decide the finalists.

France, victor for the past two years, is favored to come through again and earn the right to invade the United States, first to meet the American zone winner and then, if triumphant, to oppose America in the challenge round at Philadelphia, September 11-13.

SUZANNE AND HELEN WATCH U. S. STARS WIN

Paris, June 3.—(AP)—Invading American tennis players made further advances in the international hard court championships today after rain again had compelled postponement of many matches. Outstanding victories of the day were scored in the women's singles by Mrs. Marion Z. Jessup and Elizabeth Ryan, while Vincent Richards and Howard O. Kinsey brought off an easy triumph in the men's doubles.

Mrs. Jessup romped through her first round test against Mme. Le Besnerais, of France, 6-3, 6-2, but Miss Ryan was hard pressed to eliminate Mme. Danet, of France, 5-7, 6-2, 6-3. The day's play also marked America's initial defeat of the tournament, Isabella Mumford, of Boston, falling a victim to the flashing racquet of Mlle. Deve, one of France's fastest young players, 6-3, 6-4.

Helen Wills and Suzanne Lenglen were sideline spectators as Miss Ryan began her match against Mme. Danet. The California player started erratically, having great difficulty in controlling her service. She made ten double faults in the opening set, while her driving was uncertain, and the French player profited by her mistakes to take the first set, 7-5.

Miss Ryan was steadier in the second set. She finally brought her fast service under control, and soon put her opponent on the defensive with sizzling drives which found her in command throughout the remainder of the contest.

Mrs. Jessup was not extended at any point of her match with Mme. Le Besnerais, while Miss Mumford was outspeeded and outstroked by Mlle. Deve. The Boston girl put up a gallant fight, however, although her drives lacked pace and depth and she was forced out of position time after time by the superior play of her opponent.

Richards and Kinsey rode roughshod over Halkema and Sarkies, of Holland, 6-1, 6-0, 6-1, the losers winning two games, largely through the carelessness of the Americans. The Holland team was aced repeatedly, while the hard-driving Americans had their opponents on the defensive at every stage of the contest.

PADDOCK WILL NOT COMPETE IN A. A. U. MEET

Pasadena, Cal., June 3.—(AP)—Because he has passed the peak of his form, Charles Paddock, the sprinter, will not compete in the Amateur Athletic union track championships to be held in Philadelphia in July.

Expressing a regret that he would be unable to take part in the meet, Paddock says that he had gone stale through over-training and that it would be useless to try to get into form again this season.

Explaining that he had been prevented from competing in the A. A. U. championships last year by a seven months' tour he took through the Orient and Europe, the sprinter said that with a definite view of participation this year, he started vigorous training last January. To his surprise, he found himself in good condition in a few weeks and at the peak of his form May 15, when he was clocked for the 100-yard dash at 9.5 during the annual Southern California A. A. U. meet.

The sprinter concluded that next year he proposes to profit by his experience and start training later in the season.

TECH HI RATED 'STRONG TEAM' IN BIG MEET

Chicago, June 3.—(AP)—An invading army of school boy athletes from 190 high schools in 30 states, stretching from Florida to Washington, Pennsylvania and Texas, swarmed over Stagg Field at the University of Chicago today, warming up for the preliminaries tomorrow of the national intercollegiate championship meet.

The meet, the twenty-second conducted under the auspices of the University of Chicago, drew a record-breaking list of 877 athletes, 300 more than competed in the event a year ago. The Fort Collins, Colo., team, winner of the 1925 championship, ruled the favorite tonight to retain the title.

Wichita, Kas., winner of the Missouri Valley and the Southeastern intercollegiate meets, has Captain Updegraff, with a mark of :24.45 in the 220 yard low hurdles, and Bausch, with 12 feet 6 1-2 inches in the pole vault, a record of 51 feet 6 inches in the shot put and 131 feet in the discus.

Another strong team is Tech High, of Atlanta, Ga., winner of the Southeastern interscholastic. The Little Rock, Ark., team of 12 men included Brown, a sprinter, who has taken the measure of all competitors south of the Ozarks.

From the state of Washington, Paul Jessup of Bellingham, a young giant standing 6 feet 7 inches, will compete as a one-man track team. The discus throw is his specialty.

Preliminaries will be run off tomorrow in seven events to reduce the field for the finals on Saturday.

Duncan To Open New Gym Tonight

Wrestling, boxing, dancing and music will feature the formal opening of the recently organized Duncan gymnasium, 10 1-2 West Alabama street, tonight at 8 o'clock, when everything will be free to everyone.

Bennie Regan vs. Bob Fruit and Mike Lewis vs. Kid Warshaw compose the boxing features, while two well known wrestlers, whose names will not be announced until tonight, will be on the program.

Several well known Charleston dancers are listed on the opening bill and will be followed by gymnastic stunts. Dr. H. W. Lanford and Dupree Scoggins will give several exhibitions of hand balancing.

Miss Margaret Weaver, seven-year-old daughter of Candler Weaver, will give an exhibition of weight lifting. Although she weighs only 50 pounds, Miss Weaver can lift more than 150 pounds.

MORGAN BEATS KID SULLIVAN; DELANEY WINS

New York, June 3.—(AP)—Tod Morgan, of Seattle, successfully defended his lightweight championship here tonight when he scored a technical knockout over Steve (Kid) Sullivan, of New York, a former titleholder, in the sixth round, of a 10-round match at the Brooklyn National league baseball park.

Morgan was away to a big lead in the opening round. He toppled Sullivan to the canvas with a left hook which bounced off Steve's chin as the Brooklynite was rushing in. Sullivan took nine and came up, weathering the remainder of the storm with difficulty. The same thing happened in the second. A left hook caught Sullivan off balance and he went down for nine. Morgan was the aggressor in all the skirmishes.

Jack Delaney, of Bridgeport, Conn., scored a technical knockout over Tommy Burns, of Detroit, in the second round of their 10-round match in the semi-final to a junior lightweight championship fight.

The referee stopped the bout and awarded the verdict to Delaney after one minute and fifty seconds of the second round. Burns apparently was hopelessly outclassed and was being hit almost at will when the official stepped between them.

Burns started well, but when he came up for the second, he started to swap punches with Delaney and thereby invited disaster. Delaney drove him to a corner with a terrific right which almost floored him. Delaney then launched an offensive which was not halted until the referee stopped hostilities, with Burns virtually out on his feet. Burns weighed 170, Delaney 169.

Arthur Dekuh, Italian heavyweight, 210 1-2, outpointed Carl Carter, of Cuba, 196 1-2 in the first ten-rounder.

Tommy Lorenzo, New York featherweight, won a judge's decision over Billy Reynolds, of Jersey City, in a four-round opener.

Walker-Dundee Matched by Tex

New York, June 3.—Tex Rickard, turning his attention temporarily from the heavyweight boxing situation, has arranged one of those "naturals" in the welterweight class which should pack Madison Square Garden on the night of June 17.

Mickey Walker, who held the title for three years until defeated by Pete Latzo at Scranton last month, has signed to meet Joe Dundee, Baltimore challenger, in the scrap for which fans have been yelling for six months.

Both men will make 147 pounds, and the fight will go ten rounds—maybe. Dundee, having beaten everyone in the welterweight division except Walker and Latzo, has been on Mickey's trail for six months. Mickey has challenged the new welter champion to a return bout, but consented Thursday to try to dispose of the Baltimore boy in the meantime.

U. S. Professionals Begin International Golf Matches Today

Barnes and Hagen Meet Mitchell and Duncan in First Singles Matches—Play Will Last Two Days at Wentworth Links.

London, June 3.—(AP)—The international professional golf match between the United States and Great Britain, which opens at Wentworth tomorrow, will be played by teams consisting of 10 men each instead of 8.

At the request of Walter Hagen, the American captain, it was decided today to alter the plans for the tournament in order that two more Americans may engage in the play.

The singles lineup for Saturday, as a result of the change in plans, is as follows:

Jim Barnes vs. Abe Mitchell; Walter Hagen vs. George Duncan; T. D. Armour vs. Aubrey Boomer; Joe Kirkwood vs. Archie Compston; W. Melhorn vs. George Gadd; Al Watrous vs. Ted Ray; Cyril Walker vs. Fred Robson; Freddie McLeod vs. Arthur Havers; Emmet French vs. E. R. Whitcombe; Joseph Stein vs. H. C. Jolly.

Originally it had been planned to have McLeod, French, and Stein play a three-ball match for the last place on the American team to oppose Havers, but this was unnecessary when it was agreed to play the full 10 men.

Hollis Sullivan On Charity Card

Nothing more nor less awaits Pete Sauer, the Marvel, than a world's championship match with Joe Stecher if he is successful in his battle with Jimmy Londos here Tuesday night.

John Contos, who is matchmaker for this show, made the assertion Thursday that if Sauer can put the bee on Mr. Londos, he will get the next bout here with Stecher in the none too distant future.

It was announced Thursday that besides the three wrestling matches, Hollis Sullivan, the Marietta schoolboy boxer, will travel six rounds with an opponent yet to be selected, as an added attraction.

Haas Hits Home Run To Beat Lookouts, 5 to 3

Tom Rogers Pitches First Game Against Former Teammates

Cracker Outfielder Clouts Homer in Eighth With Love On To Untie 3-3 Score and Win Game—Al Niehaus Also Stars with Stick, Getting Triple and Single.

BY ROY E. WHITE.

Mule Haas' home run in the eighth inning with Love on base was the hit that gave Atlanta a well-earned 5-to-3 victory over the Chattanooga Lookouts Thursday in the first of a three-game series. It was the first game that the Crackers have played on their home lot in more than a week, and marked their third straight win over the Lookouts.

Tom Rogers, former Lookout hurler who was recently traded to the Atlanta team in exchange for Duth Krehmeyer, was Manager Niehoff's pitching selection Thursday. Tom held his former mates well in hand for six innings and only four hits were registered off his delivery in that time, but in the seventh a couple of bad breaks that went for hits placed the veteran in a bad hole.

After the visitors had registered two runs off four hits, Rogers was yanked and Ruel Love relieved him with two men on the bases. The first man to face Love was purposely walked and then Don Anderson, always a dangerous hitter, was struck out on three pitched balls. The next two innings were easy for Love.

"Red" Bates, one of the best righthanders in the league, faced the Crackers and pitched a creditable game, but was unsteady at the critical points, and Atlanta shoved across the needed scores.

Atlanta broke the ice in the second inning. Al Niehaus tripled to start, making the thirteenth straight game that he has hit safely in. Brock then lifted a long sacrifice fly to Lewis, and Niehaus walked across the plate.

Elberfield's clan tied the count in the first half of the fourth. D. Anderson walked to start and Jones ran for him. Bigelow singled to center and Jones stopped on second. C. Anderson singled through short, Jones scoring, while Bigelow went to third. C. Anderson went to second on a wild pitch. Bandrimer grounded out and Hartford hit to Rogers, Bigelow being caught at the plate, Rogers to Brock, on a beautiful play. It was a bad hole that the Crackers pulled out of.

Crackers Score First.

Atlanta forged into the lead in its half of the fourth inning. Niehaus walked and Brock doubled to left field. Niehaus pulling up at third. A walk to Gilbert loaded the sacks, Rogers aided his mates with a short single to left that scored Niehaus. Murphy butted into a double play, and Haas popped out to end the inning.

Chattanooga took the lead for the first time in the seventh inning. C. Anderson doubled down the third base line, and Bandrimer sacrificed him to third. Hartford singled to center field and C. Anderson scored. Keller hit one just out of Gilbert's reach for a single, and Hartford stopped on second. Bates popped out. Lewis doubled down the third base line, scoring Hartford. Rogers was taken out of the box and Love replaced him. Carroll was purposely walked and D. Anderson ended the rally with a strike out.

Love Socks One.

After saving the day for the Crackers, Love opened the eighth inning with a double, and then stole third. Murphy and Niehoff were easy outs, but Haas sewed up the game with a home run to deep left field.

Niehaus, Haas, Rogers, Love and Brock supplied the pinch hits for the locals. Niehaus was credited with a triple and a single and scored two of the runs. Haas' only hit was his home run, but that was enough—it won the ball game. Rogers singled in a pinch, as did Brock.

Hartford, Lewis and C. Anderson were the big guns for the visitors with the stick. All three of these Lookouts had a double and single to their credit with the exception of Hartford who added an extra single for good measure.

Bates pitched a good game with the exception of the final three innings, and had the Cracker hits well scattered. Atlanta players were on base in practically every inning, but Bates tightened up and held the scoring down, 12 Crackers being left stranded on the paths.

Hollis McLaughlin probably will be Atlanta's pitching selection for this afternoon while, the Chattanooga hurler has not been selected, since the pitching staff has been overworked in the last few games.

Miss Ederle To Write Constitution Stories

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

New York, June 3.—Gertrude Ederle, who holds more records than any other girl swimmer in the world, sailed on the Berengaria for her second—and what she confidently expects to be her successful—attempt to swim the English channel.

During her trip abroad and the entire period of her training Miss Ederle will write her experiences exclusively for The Constitution. She will tell how she trains, how she reacts to conditions that she finds in France, and what difficulties she will have to combat in the greatest test of her career.

The young swimmer was accompanied on her voyage by Miss Julia Harpman, of the staff of The Constitution-Chicago Tribune press service, who will act as Miss Ederle's official chaperon. Miss Harpman, in private life, is the wife of Westbrook Pegler, Tribune press service sports writer.

Training quarters will be established by Miss Ederle at Cape Gris Nez, a little village in the Sand Dune country on the Brittany coast.

"I am determined to swim the channel," Miss Ederle said. "I want to do so more than anything in the world. I hope I will be able to swim across this time, and I feel that I am going to do it."

RUTH HITS TWO HOMERS.

New York, June 3.—Two home runs by Babe Ruth, driving in five runs, gave the New York Yankees an easy victory over Boston here today, 8 to 5. Ruth's homers were his 17th and 18th of the season. In 1921, Ruth's record home run year, his 18th did not come until June 11 in his 51st game. Both of Ruth's home runs were off Wiltse.

Thomas held Boston to only three hits, but was wild and was relieved by Jones in the ninth.

American Stars Show Supremacy in Sports On European Soil

U. S. Representatives Are Victorious in Almost Every Branch of Sports—Stars Show Up Greatest in Last Five Years.

New York, June 3.—(By the Associated Press.)—All the king's horses and all the king's men, it seems, cannot keep the Yankees from galloping off with the time-honored trophies of his majesty's athletic kingdom.

The rising tide of American supremacy in all branches of sports has been rapidly breaking down Great Britain's defenses all along the line, particularly in the last five years. It has reached somewhat of a climax in the triumph of the first native-born American, Jess Sweetser, in the historic British amateur golf championship.

Stronghold Battered.

With this victory added to the list, home-bred American talent now can boast of having lifted virtually all of Britain's prized cups and trophies in such major branches of international competition as tennis, golf and rowing, besides demonstrating superiority in polo, fencing, yachting, track and field—sports in which there has been a common bond of rivalry and which have steadily watched the shifting of supremacy from the homeland to this side of the Atlantic.

The royal and ancient strongholds of British golf have been battered badly since the war. Jock Hutchison broke through the British open championship citadel in 1921. In the succeeding three years Walter Hagen, American home-bred "pro," carried the heights twice and missed out by only a stroke the third time. Last year Jim Barnes brought the open title trophy back to the United States for the fourth time and this month Hagen is leading a formidable Yankee team into battle again.

Tilden Crashes Barrier.

France has shared with America the effort to deprive Britain of her tennis laurels since the war. "Big Bill" Tilden broke down the barrier at Wimbledon to carry off the world's championship in 1920 and 1921 on England's historic turf, and "Little Bill" Johnston turned the trick in 1923. Since then Jean Borotra and Rene Lacoste each have won the all-England trophy while Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen has been queen among the women players since 1919 except for one season.

With Helen Wills as well as Mlle. Lenglen on the ground at Wimbledon this year, there seems scant hope of keeping the title from making another trip, either across the channel or the Atlantic.

Until the dawn of the twentieth century, Britain's polo supremacy was not menaced to much extent, but since 1902 the international challenge cup, classic trophy in this sport, has been won only once by his majesty's horsemen. American army polo players also have beaten British riders for military honors in 1923 and 1925.

The Diamond Sculls, historic emblem of rowing supremacy, was brought back to the United States in 1923 by Walter Hoover, of Duluth, Minn., but he met defeat in 1923 and 1925 in efforts to repeat his victory.

There have been other triumphs also and a few setbacks.

STRIB WILL DEMAND BOUT WITH TUNNEY

Hendersonville, N. C., June 3.—(AP) W. L. (Young) Stribling will immediately demand a meeting with Gene Tunney should the youthful Georgia boxer defeat Paul Berlenbach in their 15-round bout at Yankee stadium, New York, June 10, "Pa" Stribling, father-manager, announced today.

The elder Stribling declared that he believed it was Tunney's obligation to meet his son. They were matched at Miami last winter but the bout was called off on the eve of the battle.

Young Stribling pulled the scales to 172 pounds today and must add three more pounds to qualify for the Berlenbach match. The youth is training over Jack Dempsey's old camp here and is under the personal supervision of "Pa" Stribling.

The Striblings came here May 25 and will leave next Saturday for New York.

Total stock sales, 1,645,200 shares.

New York, June 3.—(AP)—Stock prices made further recovery today in response to a series of favorable financial and trade developments. These included the house's ratification of the French debt agreement, lower call money rates, the publication of bullish government statistics on gasoline consumption and the continuation of record-breaking freight traffic for this season of the year.

Trading showed a substantial increase in volume, the day's sales aggregating 1,645,200 shares, as compared with 1,287,200 yesterday and 894,200 the day before. Several large blocks of 1,000 to 5,000 shares changed hands during the day, particularly in the motor group where urgent short covering appeared to be in progress.

Rails took on a new lease of life on a revival of unofficial rumors that the Van Sweringens were prepared to announce a new "Nickel Plate merger plan, the terms of exchange of which would be somewhat similar to the old plan except the non-voting stock would be eliminated and minority intesests would be given representation on the board of directors. "Nickel Plate" common soared six points to 167 7-8, Pere Marquette advanced 4 1-2 to 91 1-2 and Chesapeake & Ohio crossed 131 for a gain of more than 3 points.

Mack Trucks and Hudson assumed the leadership of the motor group, each closing 2 points higher at 114 3-4 and 66 7-8 respectively. General Motors touched a new high on the current recovery at 130. Chrysler, Willys-Overland, Hupp and Stromberg Carburetor closed a point or so higher, but Moon fell back over 2 points to 24 1-2.

There was a good demand for the so-called standard industrials, U. S. Steel common and Baldwin Locomotive each advanced 1 1-2 points to 125 1-2 and 109 1-2, respectively, and American Smelting showed an extreme gain of 3 points at 121.

Net gains of 1 to 3 points also took place in such widely diversified issues as Central Leather preferred, Dupont Electric Refrigeration, Foundation company, International Harvester, International Match preferred, Manati Sugar, Montgomery Ward, National Dairy Products, Otis Elevator, F. G. Shattuck, Shubert Theater, Texas Gulf Sulphur, U. S. Distributing, Ward Baking and Wright Aeroplane.

Remington Typewriter soared 5 1-2 points to 102 1-2 on the announcement that the preferred stock would be retired. American Brown Boveri rallied over 2 points in response to valuable new contracts. Oils were slow in responding to reports of record-breaking gasoline consumption in April, although Lago touched another new high at 23 3-4.

Call money renewed at 4 per cent. and then dropped to 3 1-2 closing at the bottom. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchanges were irregular with sharp recoveries in the Norwegian, Spanish and Polish rates as the feature. Demand sterling held steady just under $4.86, but French francs yielded nearly 5 points to 3.21 1-2 cents. Belgian and Italian currencies showed nominal recessions. Norwegian krone rallied 23 points to 22.12 cents and Spanish pesetas moved 11 points to 15.14 cents. Polish zloty advanced half a cent to 9 1-2 cents.

If said court shall not confirm the sale, the deposit made by the accepted bidder or bidders will be forthwith returned to such bidder or bidders.

III. The Special Master will not accept any bid for the property to be sold less than the sum of $2,500,000.00.

IV. Upon confirmation of the sale the purchaser must make such further payment or payments in cash on account of the purchase price as said court may from time to time direct. So much of the purchase price as may not be required by said court to be paid in cash may be paid in whole or in part in cash or by turning over to the Special Master at their distributive value, to be cancelled or credited as in said decree provided, First Mortgage Bonds and coupons thereunto appertaining and/or Income Bonds and scrip certificates and/or claims against said Atlanta, Birmingham & Atlantic Railway Company allowed and established in said causes, or any thereof. The value at which such bonds, coupons, scrip certificates and/or claims will be received by the Special Master will be the sum which would be payable out of the proceeds of sale upon such bonds, coupons, scrip certificates and/or claims if the whole amount of the purchase price had been paid in cash. Said bonds and coupons and scrip certificates must be in bearer form or accompanied by proper transfers to the Special Master, and said claims must be accompanied by proper assignments thereof to the Special Master.

The purchaser shall not be required to pay any amount which under said decree or any order hereinafter made by said court is payable in cash out of the proceeds of sale to any holder of First Mortgage Bonds or Income Bonds or scrip certificates or claims against said Atlanta, Birmingham & Atlantic Railway Company, until after said court shall direct payment of the cash distributive share of such proceeds to which such holder shall be entitled.

In lieu of the delivery to the Special Master of First Mortgage Bonds and coupons or Income Bonds and coupons or scrip certificates, the Special Master will accept the certificate or certificates of Irving Bank-Columbia Trust Company and/or of Old Colony Trust Company and/or of the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company and/or of any other national bank or trust company acceptable to the Special Master that it holds subject to his order bonds and/or scrip certificates of the amount and character therein specified in bearer form and, if in coupon form, accompanied by the coupons therein stated.

Said court by said decree reserved the right to re-take and re-sell the property therein directed to be sold upon such notice as it may direct, in case the purchaser thereof shall fail or omit to make any payment on account of the unpaid balance of the purchase price within twenty (20) days after the entry of the order requiring such payment, or if an appeal be taken from such order, within twenty days after the entry of the order finally affirming such order on appeal. Said court also reserves the right to release and discharge the property by said decree directed to be sold or any part or parts thereof from any lien or incumbrance imposed by said decree upon such terms and provisions as said court may determine.

V. The property will be sold (i) subject to the lien of any taxes, assessments and other public charges which may be a lien on said property or any part thereof; (ii) subject to the lien of the First and Refunding Mortgage dated November 1, 1915, of Atlanta, Birmingham & Atlantic Railway Company to The Equitable Trust Company, of New York, as Trustee, as to the property adjudged in said decree to be subject to the prior and superior lien thereof to the extent so adjudged and as to any other property which may be subject to the lien thereof to such extent as may be finally determined (not, however, including the property by said decree and thereafter adjudged to be subject to the prior and superior lien of the First Mortgage dated January 1, 1904 of Atlantic & Birmingham Railway Company to Old Colony Trust Company, as Trustee), and (iii) subject, in the event and to the extent that any of the following instruments may constitute valid and subsisting prior liens upon, or valid and subsisting prior interests in, and of said property, to the lien or interest created by the said instruments: (1) agreement dated January 15, 1920, between said Atlanta, Birmingham & Atlantic Railway Company and the Director General of Railroads, known as Equipment Trust No. 3, under which there are now outstanding notes in the aggregate principal amount of $655,000.00; (2) agreement dated March 12, 1925, between said Receiver and Georgia Car & Locomotive Company under which there are now outstanding notes in the aggregate principal amount of $150,000.00; (3) agreement dated August 31, 1925, between said Receiver and Virginia Bridge & Iron Company, securing notes issued or to be issued in the principal amount of $257,000.00; and (4) agreement dated January 28, 1926, between said Receiver and Virginia Bridge & Iron Company securing notes issued or to be issued in the principal amount of $75,000.00.

The purchaser of the property by said decree directed to be sold, his successors and assigns, shall, as part of the consideration for, and as part of the purchase price, of the property purchased, and in addition to the sums bid for the property by said decree directed to be sold and elsewhere in said decree required to be paid, take such property and receive the deeds or other instruments of conveyance and transfer thereof upon the express condition that such property shall be charegd with the payment, satisfaction and discharge of the following:

(a) any compensation which has been or shall be allowed by said Court to the Receiver appointed in said causes, or to his solicitors or counsel, any allowances by said Court to the solicitors and counsel for said Birmingham Trust and Savings Company and to the solicitors and counsel for any other parties to the said causes or any of them, all charges, compensation, allowances and disbursements of Old Colony Trust Company, Trustee, The Equitable Trust Company of New York, Trustee, and Irving Bank-Columbia Trust Company, Trustee, and any of them, and their respective solicitors and counsel, and any other administration expenses, allowances and disbursements determined by said Court;

(b) any indebtedness, obligations and liabilities of said Receiver incurred in said causes or any of them in the ancillary causes in the discharge of his duties as such Receiver between February 25, 1921, and the date of the delivery by him to the purchaser of possession of the property by said decree directed to be sold; and

(c) any claims against said Atlanta, Birmingham & Atlantic Railway Company or against the property by said decree directed to be sold or any part thereof, which shall have been or shall be adjudged by said Court to be prior in lien or superior in equity to the First Mortgage Bonds and/or the Income Bonds (to the extent but only to the extent that such claims if they had not been assumed or paid by the purchaser, would have been entitled to receive any part of the proceeds of sale before the same would have been distributable to the First Mortgage Bonds and/or the Income Bonds); to the extent that such charges, compensation, allowances, disbursements, indebtedness, obligations, liabilities, and claims shall not have been paid out of the moneys in the possession of the Receiver.

In the event that any purchaser shall fail to pay any such charges, compensation, allowances, disbursements, indebtedness, obligations, liabilities and claims, when the same shall be due and demand therefor shall be made, the person or corporation entitled to such payment and any party to said causes or any of them may on ten days' notice to such purchaser, his successors or assigns, or his or their solicitors, file a petition in said court to have such claim enforced against the property purchased by such purchaser in accordance with the usual practice of said Court in relation to claims of a similar character. Any such purchaser will have the right to appear and contest the enforcement of such claim, and to appeal from any judgment, decree or order made thereon.

Jurisdiction was by said decree retained by said Court for the purpose, among others, of enforcing the provisions of Article XXVI of said decree, and said Court reserved the right to retake and resell the property sold pursuant to said decree in case the purchaser thereof shall fail to comply with any judgment, decree or order of said Court in respect to the payment of any such claim within twenty days after the entry of the judgment, decree or order requiring such payment, or if an appeal be taken within twenty days after the entry of the order finally affirming such order on appeal; and said Court also retained jurisdiction for the purpose of releasing and discharging the property by said decree directed to be sold, or any part or parts thereof from the provisions of said Article, upon such terms and provisions as said Court may determine.

No purchaser will be held personally liable under said Article for any claim by said Article required to be paid, the method therein provided for the enforcement of such claims being exclusive of all other remedies against the purchaser and the property directed to be sold. Such purchaser may at any time file in said causes a waiver or satisfaction of any claim by anyone entitled to payment thereof, and such waiver or satisfaction will free the property purchased from such claim.

VI. The property, both real and personal, by said decree directed to be sold may be inspected by intending bidders, subject to such reasonable regulations as the Receiver may prescribe.

VII. The Special Master may, and at the joint request of the solicitor for Old Colony Trust Company, Trustee, and Irving Bank-Columbia Trust Company, Trustee, will adjourn or postpone said sale from time to time to any future day by oral announcement made either personally or by some person designated by him, of such adjournment at the time and place fixed for the sale or for any adjourned sale, and may without further notice or advertisement proceed with the sale on any day to which the same may have been adjourned.

VIII. On the day following the conclusion of the bidding at said sale or said adjudged sale, or if said day be Sunday or a legal holiday, then on the next day not Sunday or a legal holiday, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, the Special Master will report the result of said sale to said court at the Court Room of the United States District Court for the Northern District of Georgia, Northern Division, in the City of Atlanta, State of Georgia; and by the provisions of said decree said Court reserved the right at or prior to said time to adjourn or postpone the hearing upon such report, or at said time or at any time to which such hearing may be adjourned or postponed, to order the approval or disapproval of said sale, to order such further or other sales, if any, as may be deemed advisable, and to make such order or orders in the premises as it may deem proper. As provided in said decree, notice is hereby given that the above-mentioned cause are set for further hearing before said Court at the time and place of the above-mentioned report to said Court and that such hearing will be had without further notice.

IX. For further particulars, intending purchasers are hereby referred to said decree on file in the office of the Clerk of said District Court of the United States for the Northern District of Georgia, Northern Division.

BRITISH WORRIED OVER MUSSOLINI

BY CHARLES M. McCANN.

(Copyright, 1926, by United News.)

London, June 3.—Great Britain's anxiety regarding Egypt is not caused primarily by the mercurially-changing Zaghlul Pasha, the nationalist leader recently victorious in the Egyptian elections, but by concern over the fiery premier of Italy, Benito Mussolini, whose domain is just across from Egypt on the other side of the Mediterranean.

Not only the British, but most other Europeans, it is learned authoritatively, are convinced that if Great Britain were to withdraw from Egypt, Italy would step in within a few weeks. This would mean that British communications by way of the Suez canal with her overseas empire would be left at the mercy of a nation which professedly wants to dominate the Mediterranean.

Hence the British are showing a strong hand in Egypt, and are leaving no possible excuse for action in that direction by Mussolini. Because of anxiety in London over the turn of affairs in Cairo British leaders emphasize the fact that the situation remains grave, even though it has been somewhat improved in the last few hours by Zaghlul's decision not to take the premiership himself but to hand it over to the liberal, Adly Pasha.

To Send Warships.

In the event that Zaghlul again changes his mind or shows any signs of obstreperousness, the British plan to send additional warships to Egypt at once. Preparations have been made to utilize the troops now in Egypt if necessary and to send more if they are needed to enforce the four conditions on which Great Britain granted Egypt independence in 1922. These four points are: First, maintenance by Great Britain of security of her communications; second, protection of Egypt by Great Britain against foreign aggression; third, protection by Great Britain of foreign interests in Egypt; and fourth, retention by Great Britain of the Sudan.

INTOLERANCE HIT BY JUDGE HINES

today men in Georgia who are afraid to publicly state their religious convictions because of their fear of punishment. Freedom of religious belief is the most sacred right a man may possess. These people have banded together to persecute the people of certain religious beliefs. They want to exterminate the Jews, they want to drive the Catholics out of Georgia. God save the mark.

"Are we in any real danger from the Jews? Are they going to eat us up? Is Catholicism going to run over us? Concede their wrong purposes, which I deny. There were 110,000,000 people in this country, according to the last census, of which 43,000,000 were in the churches and of this number there were more Protestants by 3,000,000 than there were Catholics. In the state of Georgia there were 25,000 Catholics, while there were 2,375,000 people in this state who are not Catholics. The Catholic church is one of the pillars of our civilization. I am not a Catholic and I do not believe in their teachings, but I do know that they believe in the preservation of the American home and the American government.

Pleads for Tolerance.

"This band or organization has stirred up strife, race prejudice, religious prejudice solely for gain on the part of the designing men at its head. Let me plead for tolerance. It is a struggle to be tolerant, I know, because the people of the south are the most intolerant in the world, but I want to sound an appeal to the lawyers of Georgia to see that the constitution of this state is upheld.

"During recent years a wave of fanaticism has swept over the state of Georgia and only one public official in the state had the courage to denounce it. His reward was defeat."

After the conclusion of Judge Hines' address a resolution was offered by John B. Gamble of Athens, pledging anew the fealty of the Georgia Bar association to the constitution of 1877 and binding the Georgia Bar association to more determined efforts than ever before toward the enforcement of the law. The resolution was adopted by a rising vote, unanimously so far as could be seen.

There was prolonged applause for Judge Hines at the conclusion of the session and a number of the members of the association crowded about him to shake his hand.

With approximately 200 delegates in attendance, the meeting of the association was called together at noon with the president, L. W. Branch, of Quitman, in the chair.

74 New Members.

Seventy-four new members of the association were accepted by the executive committee and reported to the association.

Change Sought.

Hatton Lovejoy, of LaGrange, at the morning session today introduced a resolution by which the present method of permitting a nominating committee to place the names of those to be voted on for officers would be changed, and instead this would be determined by mailing ballots to all members, with the names of two candidates for each office thereon, the votes of the members to be counted by the executive committee and the majority to determine the new officers for the ensuing year. The resolution was referred to the committee on resolutions and will probably be reported Friday.

The report of the treasurer of the association, Logan Bleckley, showed the financial affairs of the association to be in fine shape, there being cash on hand amounting to $3,861,10.

In 4,000 years of recorded history the human race has made little or no appreciable progress in letters, in the machinery with which the law is held together—criminal law—and in man's conception of God, Lee W. Branch, president of the bar association, said in his annual address today.

Speaking on the subject of "The Stagnation of the Criminal Law," Mr. Branch declared that the literature, the law and the theology of a people "necessarily reflect the whole range of their inner life."

"That period which is characterized by the highest development of literature, the most humane and most efficient system of laws, and the purest theology ought to mark the high tide of progress and civilization," he said, adding that it is "painfully apparent that the literature of today is inferior in form and substance to that of Greece," and that our criminal law and theology have not made noticeable advances.

Let Sentiment Punish.

Dwelling at some length on the existing problems of the criminal laws as relates to deterring crime, the speaker suggested the possibility of a new system of law in dealing with crimes—a system other than that of "physical violence which bespeaks an abandoned and malignant and cruel heart," by which trial and conviction proceed as heretofore, "but in which no penalty shall be fixed save that which would result from a widespread and systematic publicity—the mark of Cain which would bring forth the cry of repentance: "My punishment is greater than I can bear.'"

"At least," he said, "there would be this happy result: There could be no room for mawkish sentiment and reaction in favor of the criminal. Let public sentiment punish and let public sentiment reinstate the repentant and reformed criminal. This suggestion," he continued, "is not so much of a formula to be used in the establishment of a new system as it is an attempt to emphasize the fact that we of this superlatively humane civilization of the twentieth century of the Christian era—a civilization of orphan asylums, hospitals, free schools, public playgrounds, highly endowed colleges and a thousand other gestures of a tender and loving humanity—are still content to deal with crime as it was dealt with in the early morning of history."

RANGE IN NEW YORK COTTON.

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev. Close.
July	18.41	18.42	18.30	18.35-36	18.35
Oct.	17.63	17.65	17.60	17.65-66	17.57
Dec.	17.55	17.59	17.54	17.58-59	17.53
Jan.	17.50	17.55	17.50	17.52	17.48
Mar.	17.65	17.72	17.65	17.70-72	17.64

New York, June 3.—(AP)—The cotton market made a generally steady showing today so far as new crop positions were concerned, due to apprehensions of too much moisture in the southwest and continued drouth complaints from some of the eastern belt sections. October contracts sold up to 17.66 and closed at 17.65, the general market closing net unchanged to 8 points higher.

The opening was steady at an advance of 7 points to a decline of 1 point. After showing net advances of about 4 to 8 points in early trading the market reacted, with July relatively easy under liquidation. Much of this represented switching of long accounts from July to later deliveries, particularly December, and while July sold off from 18.42 to 18.30 or 5 points net lower, new crop positions held a point or two above yesterday's closing figures, December working off from 17.58 to 17.54.

As soon as the July liquidation subsided, prices steadied up again on the less favorable view of the weather outlook, and new crop months made new highs in late trading, December selling at 17.59. July was net unchanged at the close, later months showing net advances of about 4 to 6 points.

Private cables reported trade calling and covering in the Liverpool market, but complained of a disappointing turnover in cotton cloths at Manchester.

Reports of an improved spot demand in the south may have contributed to the local advance, but the outlook for continued unsettled weather in the southwest appeared to be the chief news factor, even though some traders thought the rains reported would not prove harmful.

Another private crop report made the condition of the crop 71.0 and points to an increase of six-tenths of one per cent in acreage, with an indicated yield of 14,555,000 bales.

Exports today 22,178, making 7,551,664 so far this season. Port receipts 6,932. U. S. port stocks 819,390.

EARL CARROLL GETS 1-YEAR SENTENCE

New York, June 3.—(AP)—Earl Carroll, host at a Broadway "bathtub party," where a nude girl served drinks from a tub, was sentenced to a year and a day in Atlanta penitentiary and fined $2,000 today for perjury committed during testimony before two grand juries investigating the party.

Of six indictments originally returned against the theatrical producer, two were dropped during the trial. On two others relating to liquor at the party, he was found not guilty. The two indictments on which he received perjury convictions dealt with his testimony that no one occupied a bath at the party.

Judge Goddard imposed a sentence of a year and a day on each count, but made the terms run concurrently. He imposed a fine of $1,000 on each count.

Takes Sentence Stoically.

Carroll took the sentence stoically. He was released on continued bail of $5,000 pending his appeal, which will be heard in October.

Prior to imposition of sentence, counsel told the court that Carroll had learned his lesson, had already suffered sufficiently, and that as he had not perjured himself in any effort to obstruct justice (since the grand jury inquiry was concerned with the presence of liquor and the bathtub incident was immaterial to that) asked that leniency be shown. He produced a petition signed by nine of the 12 jurors who convicted Carroll asking that the producer be shown leniency.

Judge Goddard replied that Carroll had received a fair trial and been justly convicted, and that there was only one course open to impose just sentence.

Accuses Paine.

In a statement issued later Carroll said that the party was not given for publicity purposes and that in printing the story Philip Paine, managing editor of the Daily Mirror, had violated "one of the cardinal rules of friendship."

Mr. Paine had testified that he had received Carroll's permission to go as far as he liked with the story. Later, he said, the producer asked him to "lay off."

The bathtub party was given on Washington's birthday in an Earl Carroll theatre and was attended by several hundred persons, among them numerous widely known figures of the stage and other arts. The Countess of Cathcart, just released from Ellis Island after being held on a charge of moral turpitude, was one of the principal guests. Among witnesses called during the trial were Augustus Thomas, playwright; Al Jolson, comedian, and Irvin Cobb, author.

Joyce Hawley There.

The witness who created the most interest was Joyce Hawley, 17-year-old lingerie model and chorus girl. She told how Carroll had led her across the stage in scanty clothing, how she had stepped into the tub completely unclothed and how Carroll had then called out that "the line forms on this side."

She said she served drink from the tub to several men and that she herself was drunk when she got into it from liquor served her in the theater. She said she had been promised $700 for the job but that she never got anything.

UPWARD TREND IN CURB MARKET

New York, June 3.—(AP)—The upward movement of prices was resumed in today's curb market, but bullish operations lacked the aggressiveness of those on the "big board." Trading showed only a moderate increase in volume, indicating to many observers that the public was slow in coming back into the market.

Failure of the oils to respond to the bullish government figures on gasoline production and consumption in April was a disappointment to those working for higher prices in this group. Most of the acitve Standard Oil shares showed only fractional changes. In the independent group, Warner-Quinlan advanced a point to a new high at 29 7-8 and Tide-Water Associated responded fractionally to the declaration of an initial dividend.

Baking issues rallied on what appeared to be active short covering, Continental Baking A moving up 2 5-8 points to 72 5-8, and General Baking A advanced 1 1-2 points to 54. Coal Company shares were firm on reports of an unusually heavy spring demand for anthracite. With the exception of Stutz, which lost ground on the publication of a poor 1925 earnings report, most of the motors pointed upward, Auburn and Federal each advancing a point.

An active demand developed for the Brill Corporation issues, the A stock jumping nearly 5 points to 40 and the B closing a point higher at 16 1-2. Gillete Safety Razor, Pacific Steel Boilers, Pillsbury Flour, St. Regis Paper and Victor Talking Machine also recorded moderate gains.

Speculative interest in the public utility group was limited to relatively few issues. United Gas Improvement was run up over 3 points to 109 1-2, and then lost part of its gain, and Southeastern Power and Light advanced over a point to 28 1-2 in response to the declaration of an initial dividend on the preferred stock.

SOUTHERN TEXTILE MEN TO ADOPT STANDARDS

Lancaster, S. C. June 3.—(AP)—A move to determine standard cloth weaves will be started at the meeting of the weavers' division of the Southern Textile association in Anderson, S. C., June 18, F. Gordon Cobb, secretary-treasurer of the association, announced here today.

Samples of cloth from twenty representative southern mills will be graded by the weavers attending the meeting and if a majority of the members agree upon the grading, the samples will be shown at the semi-annual meeting of the association in July at Tybee Beach.

Approval of the samples by the association will mark their adoption as standards.

The weavers' meeting will be directed by L. L. Brown, general superintendent of the Clifton Manufacturing company, and chairman of the weavers' sectional division.

HOTEL MEN OPEN COLUMBUS MEET

Columbus, Ga., June 3.—(AP)—The annual banquet and dance at the Ralston hotel was tonight's feature of the twenty-first summer meeting of the Georgia Hotel Men's association, which opened in Columbus this morning. At the initial session Mayor J. Homer Dimon delivered an address of welcome. Frank T. Reynolds, of Atlanta, president of the hotel association, delivered his annual address.

The resignation of Ed B. Young, Jr., of Albany, who is not now in the hotel business, was announced, and L. M. Nelson, of Athens, third vice president, was elected to succeed him. Jack Walton, of Columbus, was named third vice president.

Red Cross Joins North and South, Ritchie Asserts

Washington, June 3.—(AP)—The American Red Cross embodies a living, vital, enduring tie between North and South America, Governor Ritchie, of Maryland, said today in addressing the Pan-American Red Cross conference, in session here.

"The political philosophy of the United States is that our people shall not look to the federal government to decide questions which concern their local communities alone," he said. "The community unit is the state, and it is for the people of each state to work out their own problems for themselves.

"But civilization everywhere is not bound by political philosophy or governmental principles in face of a summons from the afflicted and the distressed. Even the sanctions of sovereignty among nations yield then.

"So, it has come about in these United States the Red Cross has grown into a great agency of relief, knowing not tate lines, but experienced and equipped to extend its helping hand wherever disaster comes, an agency to which the states instantly and instinctively turn in the hour of their peoples' emergency and distress."

The Day in Finance

BY R. L. BARNUM.

Both Stock and Bond Markets Made Good Headway on the Constructive Side.

New York, June 3.—More headway was made on the constructive side of the stock market today than for any session since the end of last week when unmistakable signs began to appear that prices were again turning upward. Trading in leading stocks was in large volume, sales frequently appearing of 5,000 or more shares. There was unmistakable evidence that pools working on the long side were again back in the market for the first time since the sensational decline in prices culminated last March.

The bond market was also very strong, foreign government issues being in good demand as a result of the favorable vote taken by congress on the French war debt refunding. Washington rumors predicted that there would be a fight in the senate. However, the bond market expressed confidence that the senate would also vote favorably on the French refuuding after listening to those who were opposed to the terms agreed upon by the war debt refunding commission. French government bonds were strong and a new high was made for the German government 7s. Our own railroad bonds were in good demand reflecting easy money.

Call money renewed at 4 per cent with the supply plentiful, indicating that the heavy month-end requirements had been satisfied. Before 2 o'clock the rate dropped to 3 1-2 per cent. The supply of time money greatly exceeded the demand as has been the case for many weeks.

Automobile shares were active with prices advancing on the news that J. P. Morgan and company acting as bankers for the company had sold $9,000,000 new preferred stock at a private sale. This news was interpreted by Wall street as reflecting confidence in the outlook for the automobile industry as a whole.

While well informed Wall street is decidedly more optimistic than it was a few days or weeks ago regarding the outlook for the automobile industry, it is realized that all automobile manufacturers are not going to do as well in 1926 as in 1925. Those who keep in close touch with developments are of the opinion that taking the industry as a whole the 1926 results will be as good if not better than 1925, but that while some companies will do better, others will do worse. Boiled down, competition is growing both in the sale of new cars and used cars with accumulation of used cars in the hands of dealers making more trouble for some manufacturers than others. Some Wall street bankers are viewing the used car situation with alarm. This characteristic attitude, however is not being taken seriously by some well informed Wall street people who are confident that if the dealers got by in such years as 1921, when there was no organization in the handling of used cars, they will get by this year without the trouble which some Wall street bankers are predicting before the end of 1926.

The real explanation for the increased strength and breadth displayed in today's stock market is that up until yesterday and today most traders felt that the upward price movement was only a rally in a bear market and they were afraid of getting hung up by buying at the top. As the upward price movement has gained strength and breadth traders have been forced to realize that there was real leadership on the bull side.

Strength in Erie, Chesapeake and Ohio and other Van Sweringen rails at the opening caused careful stock market observers to ask if there was any new developments in the proposed Van Sweringen merger plans. Shortly after noon it was learned that the Van Sweringens are to submit a new Nickel Plate merger plan to the interstate commerce commission. There will be no change in the terms but the objections raised by the commission will be overcome. The new preferred stock will be given voting power and minority shareholders of such roads as Chesapeake and Ohio and the Hocking Valley will be given representation on the board. The last named change has already been made since the commission handed down its adverse decision on the proposed merger.

Today's weekly freight car loading statement showing the figures again above the 1,000,000 mark with a gain of 9,000 over the previous week, a gain of 52,000 over a year ago and an increase of 121,000 over two years ago, is understood by Wall street as meaning that despite the slowing down in some lines of industry the volume of business being done throughout the country is still large. In this connection it was pointed out that 1925 was a very good year despite slowing down in steel, textiles, oil, soft coal, the anthracite strike and overproduction in other lines.

MILLERAND WARNS AGAINST GERMANY

Paris, June 3.—Alexandre Millerant, former premier and minister of foreign affairs, and president of France from 1920 until 1924, has returned to the forefront of French politics to attack Germany and soviet Russia and to sound a solemn warning against "illusions of Locarno."

Following Premier Briand's challenge to the senate Thursday that it must ratify the Locarno treaties before adjournment or accept his resignation, Millerand, in one of the most important speeches the senate has heard in months, pointed out that Germany is joining the League of Nations "only to better her position and to gain modification of certain treaties."

Advantages Seen.

"Locarno created certain advantages," said the former president. "It tends to fill the gap created by the United States when that country repudiated the action of President Wilson in Paris. But when France sought accord with England it was with the preliminary understanding that there would be a reciprocal guarantee between the two countries. The treaties of Locarno only give reciprocal guarantees between France, Germany and Belgium, England gets none, nor does Italy. If England and Italy are prevented from moving with the allies, then the experiences of 1914 are lost."

Millerand then turned to the Versailles treaty. "I asked Briand if the military clauses of the Versailles treaty are still maintained, despite the Locarno agreements. He replied they were."

To refute Briand the French statesman cited facts which he declared made it impossible to know whether Germany is fulfilling these clauses.

"The signing of the Locarno treaties puts Germany back in her prewar position," Millerand continued. "The past can be pardoned but must not be forgotten. We must not be blind and deaf to statements being made in Germany, even by President Von Hindenberg, showing that Germany is not renouncing any of her former territories.

Total bond sales, (par value), $10,731,000.

New York, June 3.—(AP)—Buying interest in today's bond market shifted from one group to another, with most effective results in foreign and Van Sweringen railroad groups. The return of easier money conditions and a number of favorable news developments contributed to the firm undertone.

French obligations moved higher in reflection of the house ratification of the French debt funding agreement proved in France. At the same time and predictions that it would be up the question of new French financing was clarified by cable dispatches from Paris announcing that a large consolidation loan would be sought late in the year. Strong buying support again was evident for German bonds, carrying a number of them to new high prices for the year before realizing sales were encountered.

Rivaling the foreign list in trading interest was the buying movement in bonds of the so-called Van Sweringen railroads which accompanied reports that a revised Nickel Plate merger plan would soon be submitted to the interstate commerce commission. Ere, Pere Marquette and Nickel Plate issues followed the sharp upturn in the stocks of these roads but Chesapeake and Ohio obligations were little changed. Other carrier obligations held steady.

Copper, oil and independent steel liens were the strongest features of the industrial section, with gains of a point or so recorded by Inland Steel 5 1-2s, Granby Mining 7s, Anaconda 7s and Skelly Oil 6 1-2s. American Beet Sugar 6s broke 3 1-2 points to a new low price for the year at 91.

New bond offerings tomorrow will include $3,500,000 Fort William Paper company, first mortgage 6 per cent bonds at 98 1-2; $2,500,000 San Diego Consolidated Gas and Electric 21-year 5 per cent bonds at 98 1-2 and $2,500,000 City of Winnipeg 20-year 4 1-2 per cent bonds at 96.17.

The Detroit Edison Company has sold a $15,000,000 issue of 29-year general and industrial mortgage 5 per cent bonds to bankers, who will place them on the market early next week.

WHEAT ADVANCES ON NEW FORECASTS

Chicago, June 3.—(AP)—Sharp curtailment of estimates of wheat yield in the southwest had much to do with a material advance of wheat values today. Closing quotations on wheat were strong, 1 cent to 1 7-8 cents net higher; corn finished 1 to 2 1-4 cents up; oats at 3-4 to 3-4@7-8 cent gain, and provisions showing a rise of 10 to 32 cents.

One leading authority cut down his previous forecast of the Kansas wheat harvest this season as much as 33,000,000 bushels. Fears were expressed that torrential rains in Oklahoma had done damage, advices being at hand that storms amounted to a cloudburst in places. Talk of a wet harvest was current. Adverse foreign crop conditions, together with unexpected strength in wheat quotations at Liverpool, tended further to lift the wheat market here.

Decided enlargement of European demand for North American wheat was in evidence. Winnipeg messages reported the best trans-Atlantic demand in months. Meanwhile, a liberal quantity taken in on May contracts here was disposed of to mills, and the cash wheat trading basis was a cent to 2 cents higher, with offerings limited. One of the day's developments was the fact that government reports on domestic wheat production as far back as 60 years have not shown a June condition as low as the average of the latest unofficial data here for 1926.

Corn owed its advance to buying in a big way on the part of the previous speculative sellers. Unseasonably low temperatures were reported as delaying corn growth. Oats sympathized with corn.

Sugar.

New York, June 3.—With no sales reported, raw sugar was unchanged today at 4.14, duty paid.

Raw sugar futures moved within a narrow range and closed net unchanged to 1 point lower. Houses with trade and Cuban connections sold the near positions, with the principal support from shorts and commission houses. Production in Cuba to the end of May was placed at 4,823,000 long tons by a prominent Cuban authority, which compared with a production to the same time last year of 4,902,016 long tons. Approximate sales were 51,000 tons. July closed 2.43; September, 2.56; December, 2.69; January, 2.73; March, 2.72.

There was no change in refined sugar prices, which ranged from 5.45 to 5.70 for fine granulated, with only a light inquiry reported.

Dry Goods.

New York, June 3.—Cotton duck eased off today on small sales, hose and belting duck being available at 35 cents a pound. Printed crepes were down 1 cent a yard. Sheetings, print cloths, and convertibles were steady and quiet. More interest was displayed in plain colored fabrics in silks and cottons. Raw silk was higher in Yokohama and slightly firmer here on low grades. Burlap markets continued stronger with Calcutta markets up from 5 to 8d. Buying has been more active. Sport woolens and fancy dress goods were in a little better call for early cutting. Wool markets were steadier.

Is there any real difference in Gasoline?

Yes

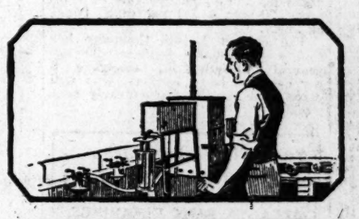

ABSOLUTELY! All gasolines are different, and the difference is one largely of wetness and dryness. A wet gas in the manifold floods some cylinders to feed the rest. A dry gas gives each cylinder a better, more even mixture.

The difference between the new Texaco and all other gasolines is that the new Texaco Gasoline vaporizes to a dry gas in the manifold at a much lower temperature than others. The new Texaco is a dry gas.

It is this ease of vaporization, this ability to form a dry gas, that makes the new Texaco results so immediate and apparent. Engineers have tried for years to produce such a gas on a commercial scale. The Texas Company's engineers have at last succeeded.

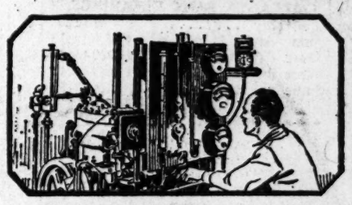

You'll notice the better acceleration—to the maximum without flooding—the easier start, quicker pickup, increased mileage and smoothness, and an entirely new freedom from carbon troubles and fouled spark plugs. Gasolines are different, and Texaco is far different. You will notice with pleasure the improved operation and condition of your engine.

The Distillation Test proves it

—by indicating the volatility; the low initial boiling point, 42° better than government specifications; the higher percentage of volatile fractions, balanced range and low end point.

The Detonation Indicator proves it

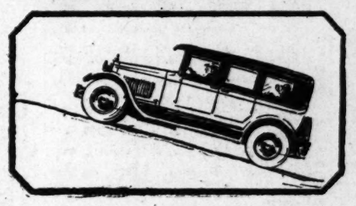

—by verifying the smooth flow of power and anti-knock qualities of the new Texaco Gasoline under actual engine cylinder conditions.

The Dynamometer proves it

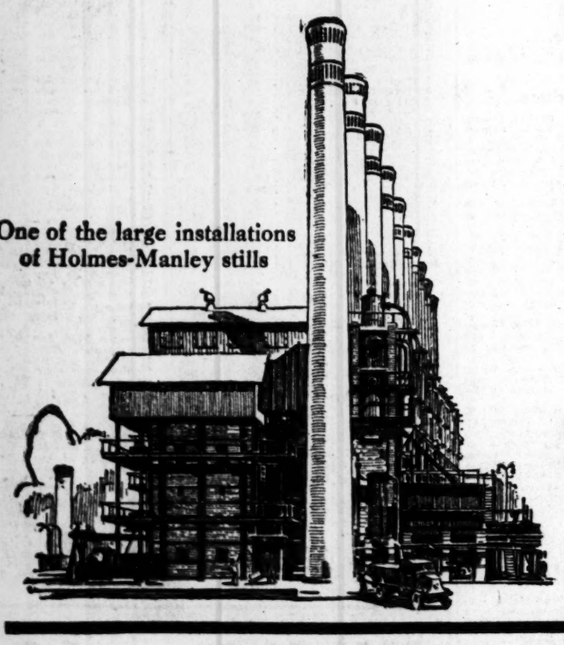

—by accurately measuring the gain in engine efficiency under normal working conditions, and the actual power and work output delivered.

Your Engine proves it

—by its responsiveness, flexibility in traffic, better hill work, quietness, gas economy, reduced upkeep and better all-around performance. By laboratory test or road test, the new Texaco is unmistakably better.

One of the large installations of Holmes-Manley stills

Stop at the first Texaco pump you see. You don't have to ask for the new and better Texaco—it's there. Fill with Texaco Gasoline; and Texaco Motor Oil, the clean, clear, golden oil, known everywhere for its quality, full body and purity.

THE TEXAS COMPANY U. S. A., Texaco Petroleum Products

The Texaco Pump has a new meaning. Better motor results — unmistakably better.

A NEW and BETTER TEXACO GASOLINE

Have stopped old hygienic methods to assure real immaculacy. NEW way gives true protection—discards like tissue

FEW modern women but employ a new and different way in hygiene. A way that supplants the old-time "sanitary pad" with true protection.

Wear filmy frocks and light things . . . any time. Dance, motor for hours without doubt or fear.

It is called "KOTEX" . . . five times as absorbent as the ordinary cotton pad!

Thoroughly deodorizes . . . thus ending ALL fear of offending.

You ask for it without hesitancy at any drug or department store simply by saying "KOTEX." Costs only a few cents. Proves old ways an unnecessary risk.

Gala Junior Prom Initiates Tech Commencement Dances

Initiating the gala dance program of the Tech commencement festivities was the annual junior prom, a brilliant event of Thursday evening at the Tech gymnasium.

The interior of the spacious gymnasium was decorated to represent an enormous Moorish tent. Rich hangings and Oriental rugs covered the walls, the ceiling lights being festooned with streamers of gold and white, the Tech colors.

The garden at the rear of the gymnasium proved a popular rendezvous for strollers during the intermissions. At midnight supper was served from attractively-appointed tables, topped with gaily-striped umbrellas, placed in inviting array in the gardens.

Coon Sanders' original nighthawk orchestra, which will play for all the dances, furnished a program of late music throughout the evening.

The dance was led by Sam Murray, of Newnan, with Miss Martha Worth Rogers, popular belle of the college set. They were assisted by Cecil Jamison and Miss Mary Moritz, both of Atlanta. Miss Rogers was an attractive figure wearing a modish bouffant gown of ceil-blue chiffon trimmed in hand-made French flowers and filmy lace. Miss Moritz wore a lovely dancing frock of white lace, the circular skirt being ruffled in tiny net frills. Bows of yellow tulle completed the costume carrying out the Tech colors of gold and white.

POLISH PRESIDENT TAKES OFFICE TODAY

Warsaw, June 3.—(AP)—At noon tomorrow Poland's new president, Ignatz Moscicki, will be formally inaugurated. Immediately after the ceremony, the interim cabinet set up after Marshal Pilsudski's coup, will resign, but it is expected the ministry will be asked to continue, with possible changes in one or two portfolios.

Professor Jarworski, of Cracow university, law and economics department, is repeatedly mentioned as likely to form a new cabinet, replacing Premier Bartel, who would remain as minister of railways.

Marshal Pilsudski apparently intends to have his way at tomorrow's inaugural ceremony. He desired that the ceremony should take place in the reception hall of the historic castle of the Polish kings, instead of the parliament building. The castle's reception hall was found too small, however, to hold the vast assembly, and the parliament building was again talked of. But Pilsudski ordered that all the ante-rooms be thrown open in the castle, and these with the reception hall are being decorated with garlands and flags.

Mrs. Howsmon Is Presented Silver Basket by P.-T. A. Council

Mrs. George M. Howsmon, who has served as the capable and efficient president of the Atlanta council, P.-T. A., during the past two years. Photograph by J. T. Holloway, staff photographer.

A tribute of appreciation and an expression of esteem, prompted the presentation of the exquisite silver epergne by Mrs. D. C. Shepherd to Mrs. George M. Howsmon, in behalf of the Atlanta council, of which Mrs. Howsmon is retiring president, featured the council meeting which took place Thursday morning at the Edico hall.

Too much cannot be said for the splendid work Mrs. Howsmon has accomplished during her administration, and unstinted praise is accorded her by the members of the Atlanta council. Mrs. Shepherd expressed the regret of the entire council over Mrs. Howsmon's departure for Birmingham, where she and Mr. Howsmon will make their future home.

Mrs. Howsmon received the gift in her usual gracious manner and said that her deep appreciation and her great love for the entire council were too deep in her heart for mere words to express.

Interested in Many Things.

Not only in P. T. A. work has Mrs. Howsmon shown ability, and been recognized and appreciated, but in other civic and charitable organizations as well. She proved most efficient as director of the Home for the Friendless, as director of the Needle Work guild, president of Highland Avenue school, head of the public welfare department of the state P.-T. A., and for the past two years has been president of the Atlanta council and it is largely through her efforts that this organization has reached its present state of efficiency.

Other Honors Given.

In recognition of Mrs. Howsmon's valued service, and given with a spirit of most sincere appreciation, was the silver vase that the teachers in charge of the special classes in the public schools recently presented Mrs. Howsmon.

As another token of appreciation, Mrs. Z. V. Peterson presented Mrs. Howsmon with a handsome silver vase at the meeting of the council on May 13.

Exquisite pink china was used on the table.

Guilty Verdict Seen as Trial Of Devalin Ends

Norfolk, Va., June 3.—(AP)—Trial of Captain Charles M. Devalin, commandant of the naval hospital here, by a court-martial on charges of drunkenness, conduct to the prejudice of good order and discipline, and misuse of government property, ended this afternoon after the group of high naval officers comprising the court had returned a sealed verdict.

Failure of the court to announce its verdict was regarded as indicating conviction, as it is the established custom to announce acquittal immediately.

The court adjourned to meet tomorrow at 1:30 o'clock, when it will sign the records in the trial, after which the verdict will be forwarded to Washington. It will be made public after review by President Coolidge and Secretary of the Navy Wilbur.

Captain Devalin was charged specifically with being under the influence of intoxicating liquor and thereby incapacitated for the proper performance of duty while at a Hallowe'en dance at the navy yard on October 30, with causing five and one-half quarts of liquor to be drawn from the naval hospital stores for use as a beverage and not for authorized medical purposes, with authorizing the use of a five-ton government truck for the transportation of government property from the naval hospital to the vicinity of Elizabeth City, N. C., and with keeping alcoholic liquor in his possession at the naval hospital.

INSTALLMENT XXIII.

THE INVESTIGATION STARTS.

Leslie laughed. He rose, knowing that the conclave had reached its end for that evening.

"If you're going to gibe at my native town I think it is high time we joined the ladies," he said. "I suggest that we take away our copy of the court martial record and study it at leisure. After this discussion we can read it with ampler knowledge. Perhaps, another time, new points may be discernible."

"I like those two lads from the 'Yard,'" confided Frensham to Panton as they went out. "I've a queer sort of suspicion that they have a bit up their sleeve."

"It will be a long sleeve which reaches back seven years," muttered John wearily.

Try as he might, and did, he could see no ray of hope. Winter was undoubtedly a fine type of public official, and Furneaux impressed him as an erratic genius. But what had either said which inspired belief that some discovery might be made which would rehabilitate him in the eyes of his fellow men? It would be foolish to hug illusions. He regretted more and more the queer chain of circumstances which had dragged him out of the seclusion and anonymity of Moose Lake. More than once its links had nearly broken, and he wished now that this very thing had happened. There was a bitterness in that joke of Furneaux's about Winter hobnobbing with criminals. What else was he doing now, together with Frensham, Leslie, and the rest? Good fellows, all of them, but they could not keep it up. They would continue to conceal the plain truth, but the day must come soon when they would realize that all the water in the sea could not wash away the stain attached to his name. What right had he to put their kindness to such a test? Would it not be better—

"Dash it all, Johnnie," growled Frensham, "are you deaf? I've almost spat in your ear twice, but I might as well be whispering to that strange statue which the little detective joker seems to be hankering after. Before we reach the drawing room I want to know something about the bright-eyed girl from Canada. She's Leslie's niece, I gather. Tell me more."

"No need," said Panton, rousing himself. "You go and sit by her side. She'll do the rest. Her father is a big man in the Hudson Bay company, and she is probably the most popular young person in Edmonton, where the stage may have grown too small for her."

"Anything doing—in your direction?"

They were talking in the dim light of a passage, yet Panton's eyes blazed with a fiery intensity that rather startled his easy going friend.

"You don't understand, Arthur, but why should you?" he said, and the subdued passion in his voice lent it the deep timbre of tragedy. "I have lost the girl I love, the only girl I shall ever love. Alistair married her—forced her to marry him may be the truer way of putting it. I could have forgiven him anything but that. If, some day, you are told that I have smashed his head to a pulp, you will, at least, know why I did it—Pardon me, old chap. I must be alone for a few minutes. I'll just whistle Spot out into the garden."

"Fur will fly in all directions before it is cleared up."

Those last few words were uttered in a more natural way, and they evidently carried into the drawing room, because May Leslie cried cheerfully:

"Spot is here, lolling on a rug. He has been retrieving golf balls for nearly an hour, and I guess he's just sick to death of the garden, which he examined once thoroughly, but failed to find even a field mouse. Don't let John get away, Sir Arthur. Bring him in, and we'll talk Canada. That chip shot of yours is a daisy. Who taught it to you?"

John yielded, being robbed of his excuse. Soon he was back in his right mind. Winter led him on to discourse on sport in the great northwest. At May Leslie's request Spot and he gave an exhibition of "jerks" on the drawing room carpet, and were loudly applauded.

The C. I. D. men left early. Furneaux, who had an uncanny trick of reading men's minds, surprised John greatly by saying:

"Buck up, Mr. Panton! Even in northern Alberta summer follows winter, you know. If I had time to polish the jest I'd make play on the chief's most misleading name. You've had a pretty rough time, so the smooth is about due. It's the swing of the pendulum. The farther it goes one way the farther it travels back in the other. So, cheeri-o. Au revoir sans adieux, as you may have tried to say in France."

The chief lived in Battersea, Furneaux near Baker street, but both went to the Yard to clear up the day's business before going home. They had no sooner entered their car than they discussed John's case in all its bearings.

"While you were flirting with the little girl from Edmonton, Mountford told me something which may prove worth while," said Winter, thoughtfully biting the end off a fresh cigar. "Major Alistair Panton, though in charge of a transport section, was also secretly employed in investigating the distribution and sale of drugs along the western front. Our men, as a class, knew nothing about 'snow' and the rest of the stuff—"

"Why leave out nicotine?"

"Don't interrupt, you rat, but listen, and you may learn a bit. Where was I? Stuff—"

"How true!"

"Confound you, Mountford's information may be of immense value."

"As evidence, yes. The trained mind of the thinker has discovered it long since. The drugs were obtainable. John Panton was undoubtedly drugged. By whom? By either Connington or Cousin Alistair, or by both, acting in collusion. From what I have heard of Alistair he is far too spry to get himself mixed up in a movie plot of that kind. If he figured in the deal at all it was in some way that would defy subsequent investigation. So we must find Connington. He is the nerve center of the inquiry."

The chief smiled blandly.

"I thought that when Leslie came in this afternoon and told me the whole story," he said. "I put out an inquiry through our special squad, and they have reason to believe that the man is now in London, living under an alias, and consorting with suspected drug purveyors."

"Ah!" smiled Furneaux.

Winter's self-satisfied air vanished. He smiled again, but uneasily this time.

"Of course, I did not tell you on our way to Braeside. I wanted to see how the affair struck you when you tackled it with an open mind."

"And you were naturally delighted to find that my unaided intelligence could dispense with the orthodox formula from information received. Sacre nom! Did you doubt me after all these years?"

"Not a bit of it. I was simply anxious to get you back into form after a surfeit of commonplace thefts, in which the main point at issue is whether one is to credit a weeping lady who has lost all her jewels or a highly suspicious insurance company. It's a pity we can't interfere officially in this Panton case. Fur will fly in all directions before it is cleared up."

"Well, I forgive you. Nice young fellow, the Honorable John."

CITY SEWER BODY ENLISTS U. S. AID

Cooperation of high government officials in securing for Atlanta and Fulton county a set of topographical, cadastral and underground maps of the sewerage system of the city as one of the most urgent needs of the sewer system of the Atlanta of the future has been secured, according to a report made public Thursday by a joint committee of the bond commission and the sewer committee of council.

The report was made to Mayor Walter A. Sims, council and the bond commission by the group which made a tour of several eastern cities where similar systems are in use. Although no definite promise has been made by the government, it is pointed out in the report that every promise of full and complete cooperation has been made.

Because of the delay in selling the bonds, incident to a suit to prevent validation, a fund of $25,000 has been sought of the 1921 bond commission to finance an early start on the proposed triangulation, the first step in securing the topographic map. Government experts will be employed to do this work and delicate instruments of the coast and geodetic survey will be used if plans of the committee are carried out.

The committee, which was composed of Superintendent of Construction William A. Hansell, Assistant Superintendent Clarke Donaldson, in charge of the sewer department; Henderson Hallman, chairman of the sewer contact committee of the bond commission and secretary of that body, and R. I. Barge, member of the sewer contact body of the bond organization, cite the fact that additional revenue accruing to the city from "reclaimed or found" property within the city limits will pay the full expense of making all the maps.

Several methods of doing the work are suggested in the report, but the most feasible plan seems to let the city do the work itself in conjunction with government experts. The city sewer forces would make the underground sewer survey without additional aid.

Richmond, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Milwaukee and Cincinnati were visited by the inspection committee, making the report. Mr. Hallman headed the group.

TENT TABERNACLE UNDER MINISTERS FULLY ORDAINED

Fully ordained ministers of the Baptist, Methodist and Christian denominations are conducting the George Moody revival in the tent tabernacle at Whitehall, Peters and Park streets in West End, it was announced Wednesday night by the Rev. Moody in reply to questions as to affiliations of members of the revival party.

Dr. Moody is a Baptist pastor, the Rev. Adlai Loudy, song leader and lecturer who conducts the afternoon services at 3 o'clock daily, is a Christian pastor and the Rev. E. Lee Johnson, acting business manager, is a Methodist. The pianist is a Primitive Baptist and the girl presented as a bird imitator and singer is a Methodist.

The evangelist spoke Thursday night on the "Abundant Life," reciting the benefits of happiness and wealth in things more important than money. Faith in the Christian religion brings this happiness to devout believers, he said. The Old Wheat Street Baptist church choir, colored, sang spirituals. "The Man Up a Tree" is the evangelist's subject for tonight's service at 7:30 o'clock.

Husband Assails Wife's Testimony In Poison Case

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Washington, June 3.—Has a wife the right to testify against her husband in a case where he sends her poisoned candy?

Attorneys for Franklin E. Kerr, of Los Angeles, have raised this question in the United States supreme court, the department of justice announced today.

According to Attorney General Sargent, Kerr was convicted in a California court on a charge of "depositing in the mails a quantity of poisoned form of chocolate candy with intent to kill his wife."

This decision being affirmed by the court of appeals, Kerr's attorneys are now petitioning for a review of the case on the ground that lower courts decided wrongfully in allowing the admission of the testimony of a wife.

The department of justice in opposing this contention holds that a wife may testify against her husband where she is the victim or intended victim of his wrongful acts.

FORSYTH PROGRAM REMARKABLY GOOD LAST HALF OF WEEK

The bill at Keith's Forsyth theater for the second half of the week, closing the season, is remarkably good—probably one of the best shows Mr. Keith has sent to Atlanta this year.

The acts are all good. Some are better, of course. We like the dog in the first act. He's an honest-to-goodness, real dog, billed with his master under the title "Groh and Adonis—the Piano Hounds." Gathering that the "Adonis" describes the dog, I regard Groh as a clever acrobat, equilibrist, or whatever the right name is. His perfect execution of difficult stunts, the majority of which were done on the top of a piano, with Adonis balancing on some part of Groh's anatomy (it didn't seem to matter what part) was thrilling.

Sidney Marion and Gene Ford in "Divertissments" got the biggest number of laughs and the largest share of applause. It is impossible to describe Ford. He's a comedian with a red nose and a hat like Buster Keaton's. Sidney Marion, who is a good-looking girl, does her part toward justifying the headline position which the act occupies.

"The Broadway Romeo" with James Cagney and company comes next. It did with Thursday night's crowd. The scene is laid on a Broadway corner, the site of a "paper from your home town" newsstand. If you've been to New York, you know the one. Cagney is nice looking, gets his lines over far better than the average man who makes his living getting lines over. And, it might be added, he shakes a mean Walkover.

Berk and Saun in "In Vogue," with a repertoire of dances, keep the audience in their seats until the final curtain. —LOY WARWICK.

HOTEL ORDINANCE ASKED OF COUNCIL

As the first step towards sweeping the city clean and to rid Atlanta of undesirable citizens and bootleggers, the ordinance committee of city council at a special called meeting Thursday afternoon in the city hall, unanimously approved a measure handed it by the Atlanta Hotel Men's association, making a misdemeanor the registration at a hotel under a false or assumed name. The measure will be presented to city council at its regular meeting Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

This is a step in furtherance of a policy started some time ago to clean up the city. It follows a meeting of police committee Wedneday night when more than 30 women appealed to the committee for a cleanup immediately.

The measure as presented to the ordinance committee provides a fine not exceeding $200 and a jail sentence of not more than 30 days for anyone violating the ordinance, either or both sentences to be imposed, at the discretion of the court.

At a recent meeting of the local hotel men's association, the matter was discussed at length and it was said that hundreds register at hotels under false and assumed names. There is no law or city ordinance that provides for punishment, it was said. Hotel men pledged support to the civic and police bodies, and the measure which will be presented to council Monday, marks the first step in this movement.

Another of the measures that will be presented to city council Monday afternoon which met favorable consideration by the ordinance committee Thursday afternoon was provision for a special recorder's court at a convenient time, where only women will be tried. At present women law violators, even though they be only violators of a non-parking ordinance, have to be called before the recorder along with the worst of Atlanta's criminals.

POWER COMPANY NEEDS MORE OFFICE SPACE

Georgia Railway & Power company Thursday filed a petition with the city inspector of buildings for permission to alter and remodel the car station of the company, at 46 Walton street, directly in rear of the gas building on Marietta street, into additional office quarters at a cost of $150,000.

Morgan and Dillon are architects for the proposed work. Additional office space to handle increased business of the company has become a necessity, according to power company officials.

Amusements

The Howard.

Paul Ash, of Chicago, is responsible for the discovery of the most talented jazz artists appearing before the public today. This is Gus Malcay, harmonica virtuoso, who plays a "harmonica rhapsody" in "Rhapsody in Jazz." Since joining the Anderson revue in New York he has been "stopping the show" at every performance.

The feature screen attraction at the Howard is Paramount's "Wet Paint," a Raymond Griffith picture with only one laugh! But that one lasts from main title to fade-out. That sparkle, brilliance and richness of setting that places Ray's comedies apart is emphasized more than ever before in this one. Helene Costello and Bryant Washburn are seen in support of the popular comedian.

The Metropolitan.

Reminiscent of the brilliant ball staged by the British in Boston before the battle of Bunker Hill is the striking and colorful scene which Cecil DeMille developed in "The Volga Boatman," playing this week at the Metropolitan theater.

As Boston was the British center during the early stages of the American revolution, so Yuroslav was the war capital of the Russian aristocrats. One of DeMille's big spectacles in the picture is the taking of Yuroslav and the capture of hundreds of Russian aristocrats in the midst of an elaborate evening function.

William Boyd is cast as the Volga boatman, the human mule dragging the heavy cargo boats up and down the Volga river day after day. Elinor Fair is cast as the Russian princess who conceives an affection for the Volga boatman, and one of the sweetest romances ever shown on a screen grows out of this affection. Volpi's mixed chorus sings "Freedom's Awakening." The overture is "Overture 1812" by Tschaikowsky.

West End Theater.

Jackie Coogan in "Old Clothes" is the screen attraction at the West End theater today. "Old Clothes" is the sequel to "The Rag Man" and deals with the same amusing but very human characters.

In "The Rag Man" Jackie was seen as the partner of an aged son of Abraham in the junk business. Jackie manages to recoup his partner's lost fortune and they are in luxury. In "Old Clothes" the story is continued, but Jackie and his partner lose their newly-acquired wealth and are seen again in the familiar livery of Kelly & Ginsberg, junk merchants.

Loew's Grand.

This week's vaudeville bill at Loew's Grand theater contains a number of acts of widely diversified nature, the headline attraction being the European comedy revue of Saranoff, eccentric comedian and musician. Other acts on the bill are Calvin and O'Conner, assisted by Ann Vesey in a comedy "In the Dark." Elsie Clark and Nelson Story in a musical skit; Howard Taylor and Them in a comedy skit with wild animals featured, and Harriet Nawrot and Boys in a skillful skating act. The Loew picture is "Monte Carlo," with Lew Cody and Gertrude Olmstead.

Rialto Theater.

Greta Nissen, the blonde and beautiful Norse actress, is starred in "The Lucky Lady," piece de resistance of the program for this week at the Rialto theater. Two of the screen's most famous villians support Miss Nissen. They are Lionel Barrymore and Marc McDermott.

On the supplementary program for the Rialto is the newest Mack Sennett comedy called "Isn't Love Cuckoo?"

Pathe news is on every Rialto program changing to a new release on Thursdays.

Forsyth Theater.

Arriving today Don Lanning's great musical comedy aggregation which has been secured by the Forsyth theater for the summer, will be ready to make its bow to Atlanta audiences Monday night in its first production "No Other Girl," one of the outstanding musical comedy hits in New York last season. The company played a preliminary engagement in Miami with great success, being hailed as one of the greatest musical comedy organizations ever seen in the south. It is directed by James E. Eviston, who has directed the destinies of several successful companies in other southern cities in the past.

Two shows will be given nightly, beginning at 7:30 and 9 o'clock, with matinees at 3 o'clock on Tuesdays, Thursday and Saturdays. Reservations may now be made at the Forsyth box office.

Ohio Democrats to Back Former Senator Pomerene Against Senator Willis

Prohibition May Be Made Issue in Fight — Judge Florence Allen May Run as Independent.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Cleveland, Ohio, June 3.—(AP)—One of the closest and most bitter senatorial campaigns in the history of the Buckeye state is anticipated this fall when United States Senator Frank B. Willis seeks reelection.

That it will be a triangular fight is almost a certainty. The republican party will swing in behind Senator Willis, while the democrats have decided to support former Senator Atlee Pomerene. Supreme Court Judge Florence E. Allen was first considered by the democrats, but that party has now transferred its backing to Pomerene.

Judge Allen to Run.

Even though the democrats decide to nominate Pomerene as their candidate, Judge Allen will enter the race. She has announced her intention to run, and it is generally believed, will run as an independent if she fails to gain the support of the major organization.

With three strong candidates, Judge Allen, Willis, and Pomerene on the ballot, the electorate of the state will be split in many ways. Judge Allen is certain to attract the women's vote while Pomerene will poll large pluralities in the rural sections. This leaves the male vote in the large cities to Willis.

Pomerene has not definitely announced his intention to run but it is considered a certainty that he will be in the race. Interviewed tonight, he refused to comment on the situation or to confirm or deny reports that he would enter the field as a wet candidate and make the issue a wet and dry battle between himself and Willis.

If Pomerene, who has always leaned toward the anti-Volstead forces, should get into the fight as a wet candidate, he would pull the combined vote of the electors who favor modification of the Volstead act in addition to the democrat vote.

Blow to Willis.

Miss Allen's decision to enter the campaign will be a severe blow to Willis supporters if Pomerene makes the battle a wet and dry issue. She is a loyal supporter of prohibition and has made a series of speeches in defense of the dry law. While a police prosecutor in Cleveland she recommended jail sentences for automobile owners convicted of driving while intoxicated and also fought the methods of police in arresting drunkards and releasing them the next morning.

She ran on an independent ticket when she was elected to the Ohio supreme court, and was given the largest plurality ever accorded a candidate for that office in this state. The added entry of Miss Allen in the race would be beneficial to Pomerene as it would place two dry candidates on the ballot to compete for the prohibitionist vote and leave the moist section of the electorate to him.

As it now stands Pomerene would take an important step toward his ultimate election if he makes an announcement of his intention to run as a wet candidate.

MILLS IS REELECTED BY FARMERS' UNION

Macon, Ga., June 3.—(AP)—Members of the Georgia Farmers' union reelected officers at their annual meeting held here today. Senator James H. Mills, Jenkinsburg, was unanimously reelected president and the following officers were reelected with him: James D. Weaver, Dawson, vice president; Andrews J. Fleming, Atlanta secretary and treasurer.

Mr. Barrett voiced the sentiment that the "farmers can get whatever they want by going after it."

He spoke also on the business activities of the union, the live stock sales and matters of legislation.

"It is necessary for the farmers to unite," he said, "as it is for any other business man to organize with men in his line."

The organization of a cooperative fire insurance company will soon be launched, it was decided at the afternoon session. Subscriptions for this purpose now have reached $1,000,000, it was stated, and organization will be completed within a few weeks.

F. E. Land, state superintendent of schools, made a plea for consolidation of schools to give better facilities to the rural districts.

Members of executive board elected at closing session are as follows: C. M. Massey, Barwick; T. G. Chastain, Atlanta; B. J. Woolen, Fort Park; J. E. Webb, Hahira; Dr. C. H. Kittrell, Dublin.

A resolution was offered by the marketing committee reiterating its faith in the need of publicly owned port terminal facilities on the coast of Georgia.

The convention also went on record unanimously as being against an issue of bonds for paving the state highways and as being in favor of the "pay-as-you-go" method.

The commodity plan of cooperatively marketing all products of the farms was also sanctioned by the marketing committee.

An increase of one cent on the tariff on peanuts making four cents per pound was recommended. Buying fertilizer for cash wherever it is possible to buy cooperatively was also recommended.

Enter Lou Powers In Cloud of Dust For Light Opera

BY RALPH T. JONES.

Lou Powers, one of the cleverest comedians who ever entertained an Atlanta audience, arrived in Atlanta Thursday. He is to be in Atlanta for three months or more, having been engaged as principal comedian for the coming season of summer light opera to be presented by the Municipal Opera association at the Atlanta theater.

Lou, accompanied by Mrs. Lou and young Miss Powers—who is, at a guess, about 12 years old—arrived in the city from Providence, R. I., via the family automobile. He didn't hurry, having plenty of time for the trip when he left Providence last Thursday. He said the roads were excellent most of the way, but the dust—"Honest, when I stood off and looked at the bus last night I couldn't recognize an inch of it," he said.

Perhaps more of the theatergoers of the south would recognize Lou as the "Duke of Czheco-Covinia," than in his right name. For he has played that role for the past two seasons in Ziegfeld's "Sally." I remember the first time he came to Atlanta in the part, in my opeing night comment upon the show, I said, "Lou Powers was so funny it absolutely hurt—ribs ached from the continuous laughter." That statement was literally true. Lou is just that funny.

So, when he appears during the eight weeks, and eight light opera productions to be given here this summer—prepare yourself for laughter. If Lou can't make you laugh, you should see a doctor.

Today the Powers family will be busy inspecting apartments. A summer home secured, rehearsals will demand a full day's work every 24 hours in so far as Lou is concerned. The others of the family are planning to thoroughly investigate and experience the delights of Atlanta as a summer resort.

We have known Lou in the past for his work in "The Greenwich Village Follies," "Good Morning, Dearie," "Sally," etc. On Monday night, June 21, at the Atlanta theater, we shall meet him as Colonel Popoff in "The Chocolate Soldier." If he is only ten per cent as funny as he was as "The Duke" in "Sally," the show is an assured success.

"OPEN HOUSE" TODAY AT WOMAN'S BENEFIT

"Open house" will be observed by the Woman's Benefit association this afternoon and tonight at headquarters in the McKenzie building. Supper will be served from 6 to 7 o'clock and dancing will be enjoyed from 7 to 8 o'clock.

Sunshine Review No. 17, will initiate several candidates. Other reviews are invited to take part in the ceremony. Friends of members are invited to the dance.

MORTUARY

MRS. DOLLY LOCKHART LANGFORD.

Mrs. Dolly Lockhart Langford, of 390 North Boulevard, died at a private hospital Thursday night. She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Sarah L. Claridy, and Mrs. Harriet L. Wells. Barclay & Brandon in charge.

JAPAN EXPECTING TROUBLE IN KOREA AT STATE FUNERAL

(Copyright, 1926, for The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

BY RODERICK MATHIESON.

Tokio, June 3.—Reports have reached here concerning the activities of Korean revolutionary circles in Shanghai and Tientsin with the arrests in Tientsin of a number of armed Koreans and the seizure of explosives concealed in bread, putting the authorities on the alert. They are anticipating trouble on the tenth day of the state funeral of the former emperor, Prince Yi-Chok.

The arrival at Shanghai from America of An Chyung Ho, "president of the Korean republic," adds to the uneasiness of the officials, who hear that he has secured soviet funds to finance disturbances.
